Judge Rules Rosen May Testify Now

Was 'Missing Witness' in First Perjury Trial of Alger Hiss

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard ruled today that William Rosen, the government's "missing witness" in Alger Hiss' first perjury trial, may testify in the second trial.

The government will try to show that Rosen was a Communist Party member who took over an old Ford roadster in 1936 from Hiss, formerly a high State Department official.

Whittaker Chambers, Hiss' chief accuser, named Rosen at the first trial as the man who received the car. Rosen disappeared shortly before the first trial opened. F.B.I. agents located him in Los Angeles last September.

Goddard's ruling that Rosen may be called as a prosecutive witness came after a 15-minute conference in his chambers. Hiss' lawyer, Claude B. Cross, objected to Rosen's testifying.

Rosen refused last year to tell the House Committee on Un-American Activities whether he was a Communist. He also refused to discuss the alleged car transaction.

Chambers' story is that Hiss turned the car over to the Communist Party for the use of one of its workers after getting the approval of "J. Peters," alleged head of the Communist underground in this country.

Hiss' lawyer continued today his efforts to show that Chambers got secret State Department documents from someone other than Hiss. He cross-examined the State Department's record chief, Walter H. Anderson.

Before Hiss' trial recessed Friday for the week-end, Anderson testified under cross-examination that 40 to 50 copies of some of the confidential papers were circulated to various divisions.

Hiss is accused of lying when he denied before a Federal Grand Jury that he gave secrets to Chambers, former Communist spy courier.

Boy Slays Brother

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 5 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy fatally shot his 13-year-old brother last night after a fight. The parents said they stood by terrified as the youth, Cabe Tatum, Jr., with a borrowed .32 calibre rifle in his hands, warned them not to interfere. "I shot toward Raymond from the hip," Cabe told a Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter in the presence of Tarrant county officers.

The slaying occurred in the front yard of the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Cabe Tatum, Sr., about five miles south of Arlington, Tex.

Chinese Are Evacuating New Capital

Officials Gather to Take Planes to Formosa, 100 Miles Off South Central Coast

Li Leaves for U. S.

President Would Seek American Assistance for Nationalists

Hong Kong, Dec. 5 (AP)—Evacuation of the new Chinese Nationalist capital at Chengtu, 170 miles northwest of Red occupied Chungking apparently began today.

A special dispatch to the newspaper Sing Tao Man Po said government officials assembled at the Chengtu airport at 2 a. m. (Chengtu time) for air transport to Formosa, island fortress 100 miles off the South Central China coast.

Planes belonging to Retired U. S. Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault have been chartered by the Nationalist government for the airlift, the report said.

Communist troops of Gen. Liu Po-cheng rolled on toward Chengtu after taking Chungking, the provisional capital only last Wednesday. Chengtu became the Nationalist capital then.

Reports to Sing Tao Man Po said the Reds were making good progress toward Chengtu, which lies in a basin a few miles from the Sikang province border.

Nationalist Gen. Hu Taung-nan hurried to Chengtu to lead troops for the defense of Chengtu. Defense lines were established 30 and 50 miles outside of the provisional capital.

This rapid development in the Chinese civil war came only a few hours after Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist leader, said the government would fight on against the Communists despite defeat on all sides.

At about the time Chiang granted an exclusive interview to the Associated Press correspondent in Chengtu, Acting Nationalist President Li Taung-nan left Hong Kong by plane for the United States. Li had been in a hospital for a stomach ailment. He was rumored to be going to the United States to petition for aid for the Nationalists although he and Chiang have split.

Increase Reported In Bridge Traffic During Last Month

November travel over the three Hudson river bridges under control of the New York State Authority was 5.2 per cent higher than that of a year ago for the same month, complete figures showed today.

The total vehicular travel this year for all bridges was 372,768 as against 354,200 in 1948, an increase of 5.2 per cent.

The Rip Van Winkle Bridge at Catskill, which has been consistently the busiest, led again last month in percentage increase, while travel on the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry showed a decrease.

Total travel over the Rip Van Winkle was 93,288, a gain of 8.590 or 11.5 per cent over the 74,649 in 1948.

The Mid-Hudson Bridge total was 210,779, an increase of 204,649 a year ago. This was a gain of 6,130 vehicles or three per cent.

The Bear Mountain Bridge with 78,750 as against 74,902, showed a gain of 3,848 or 5.1 per cent.

The November total for vehicular travel on the ferry was 4,641 as against 5,062 in 1948. This was a loss of 421 vehicles. Pedestrian travel was 1,398 as against 2,457 a year ago, a loss of 561.

B-36 Bombers Are Changed To Permit Arctic Operation

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—The far-flung B-36 bombers are undergoing some changes, suggested by two years of cold weather testing, to enable them to operate from frigid bases in the Arctic.

From such fields, the reach of the 10,000-mile range intercontinental bomber could be extended deep down into the Eurasian land mass. In this business Russia is reported to have tucked away atomic and other war goods manufacturing plants.

In conjunction with another previously disclosed plan, this would give the United States Air Force a double-barreled weapon for warfare over the top of the world.

An air force official, testifying last summer before a Congressional committee, mentioned that "a typical polar operation might

Paper Says 3,700 Die In Uranium Mine Fire

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 5 (AP)—The Lueneburger Landeszeitung declared today that 3,700 persons died in a uranium mine fire in the Soviet occupation zone on Nov. 24. This is the highest figure yet published, the previous high being 2,000. The Russians say only one man perished.

The Landeszeitung said the new estimate was given by a Soviet zone fire chief who fled to West Germany. The British-licensed Berlin Telegraph last week said the dead numbered several hundred, then boosted the total to 2,000.

The Lueneburger newspaper said the fire chief fled to Faltersleben in the British zone yesterday rather than obey orders to take a job as a fire-guard at the Johanngeorgenstadt mine.

Czech Bishops Are In Defiance of Communist Laws

Roman Catholics Declare Religious Fight Might Grow, if Stand Is Not Changed

Prague, Dec. 5 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic bishops have expressed new defiance of the Communist government's church control laws. They warned a religious fight may result if the government does not modify its stand.

The bishops announced yesterday they could not submit to laws which they asserted violate the laws of God and destroy religious freedom.

In a 2,200 word letter to the government, dated Nov. 17 and signed yesterday, the bishops asked the Communist regime to reconsider the new church control law of Nov. 1 and to revise them so as to be in agreement with the constitution of the church.

The bishops said the government would be responsible for any "religious fight" which might arise. Declaring that Prime Minister Antonin Zapotocky had bluntly rejected all requests for church law revisions with "undisguised threats," the bishops said:

"In this country of the holy martyrs... there are enough people and priests who are willing to sacrifice everything for the right of God, the right of the church and for a true freedom of religion."

Czechoslovakia's population of 13,000,000 includes 9,000,000 Catholics. The church control law, adopted by Parliament Oct. 14, gave the government the right to appoint, remove and discipline priests, applies to all denominations.

The new law gives the government final power over appointment of priests, administration of churches and religious education. The request for revision of the law governing the church cited paragraph 17 of the Czech constitution, which states: "Everyone shall be free to carry out the acts in connection with any religious denomination."

The letter did not prescribe a specific course of action by priests or those in lesser positions. On Nov. 24 the bishops published a letter to Czechoslovakia's priests ordering them not to accept government orders "which are against God's law." The Nov. 24 letter said priests who "betray Christ in this most critical time" would be deprived of their church rights, including the right of hearing confessions.

Earlier the bishops directed priests to accept state salaries and take a loyalty oath, but to add a reservation that they would promise nothing contrary to the laws of God and the Church and "natural human rights." The government said it would not accept any reservations on the oath.

In the letter published yesterday the bishops said they acknowledged secular power and the right to direct matters of the state and we are willing to support the government in just administration, but we call for freedom of the church.

May Enters Prison To Serve His Term For Wartime Deeds

Ex-Congressman Is Taken to Ashland Penitentiary; Avoided Newsmen at Surrender

Ashland, Ky., Dec. 5 (AP)—Former Rep. Andrew J. May entered the Federal Correctional Institution near here as a prisoner under conviction for wartime bribery and conspiracy at 6:30 a. m. today.

The 74-year-old former chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee was accompanied by U. S. Marshal John M. Moore of eastern Kentucky, a personal friend.

May, who had practiced as an attorney in his home city of Prestonsburg, 60 miles southwest of here since he was defeated for re-election three years ago, had made elaborate plans to avoid newsmen.

By pre-arrangement, he had met with Moore at some undisclosed place, possibly at a hotel here where the marshal stayed last night.

Moore had staunchly denied last night that he had received any commitment papers for his noted prisoner, saying "they might arrive" in the mail from his office in Lexington today.

May's son, Robert Vernon, a Prestonsburg oil dealer, played a leading role in the ruse to elude newsmen.

He drove up to the Boyd county court house in nearby Catlettsburg in a Cadillac sedan at about the time his father was entering the prison. Another man in the car, apparently intended to be mistaken for the former representative, made a start as if to alight.

When newsmen approached, he jumped back in the car and they drove off.

Warden R. O. Culver of the correctional institution, who will be May's keeper for the next eight to 24 months, announced at the prison on a short time later:

"Andrew J. May was admitted at 6:30 a. m. He was brought here by U. S. Marshal John M. Moore."

May's admission to the institution ended a flight of more than two years to escape serving his sentence. He was convicted in 1947 of dealing in military and munitions.

Last Thursday, after Federal Judge Henry A. Schweinhart in Washington had overruled the last of his appeals, May said in a handwritten statement:

"The inflexible truth as to a man's guilt or innocence is in his heart. . . . this is how I know that I am innocent."

The gray, courtly former congressman, in the prison today will go through the routine of any other convict admitted there, said Captain J. M. Wigginton of the prison guards.

May will be eligible for parole on good behavior after serving the minimum of eight months.

Warden Culver did not disclose the duties to which he will be assigned in the prison.

Three Boys Are Charged

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Three 15-year-old boys were charged with grand larceny today after police said they admitted the theft of 13 automobiles. An investigation was under way to try to determine whether they were working for a ring of adults selling stolen cars. Two of the teenagers were picked up in a brand new sedan. A patrolman spotted the new auto being driven with extreme caution and noticed that one of the ventilator windows appeared to have been jimmied. He forced the car to the curb and, after questioning, arrested the pair identified by police as John K. Kirwin and Frank Bigott, both of Manhattan. They involved a third youth, Robert Francis, police said.

Russell Says He Has No Evidence That Hopkins Was Connected With Them; Information Is Not New; Was Given in 1948

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Senior Investigator Louis J. Russell said today the House Un-American Activities Committee has evidence of three shipments of atom bomb materials to Russia in 1943. He said he had no information that the late Harry L. Hopkins was connected with them in any way.

Russell was a witness before the committee on whose staff he serves.

He said that former Air Force Officer G. Racey Jordan, who has said Hopkins was instrumental in shipping atom bomb ingredients to the Russians, will appear before the committee this afternoon.

The information on three shipments of A-bomb materials was not new. A former member of the committee, John McDowell, Pennsylvania Republican, told the House and reporters about it last year.

Committee Counsel Frank Tavenner said to Russell: "I would like to ask you whether in the course of your investigation any information came to your attention . . . that the late Harry Hopkins was involved in any way?"

"To the best of my knowledge," Russell said, "his name was never brought up. But another name was brought up and I would rather bring his name up in executive session."

McDowell had said two high administration officials were connected with shipments.

Racey Jordan, the ex-officer, said in a radio interview Friday night that big loads of what a Russian colonel called uranium and "bomb powder" were flown to Russia in 1944 under Harry-up instructions telephone Jordan by the late Harry Hopkins. Hopkins was a right hand man to President Roosevelt.

The question for the House committee was whether to allow its senior investigator, Louis J. Russell, to unfold in public the information the committee has dug up. Present for the meeting today were Chairman Wood (D-Ga.) and Reps. Walter (D-Pa.), Moulder (D-Mo.) and Harrison (D-Va.).

More than a year ago, John McDowell of Pennsylvania, then a member of the committee, said the group had evidence that atom bomb material had been shipped to the Russians by way of Great Falls, Mont., and the Alaskan route.

New York Faces Long Years Of Careful Use of Water

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—New York city's 8,000,000 people—threatened by serious depletion of its reservoirs in suburban Westchester county and upstate—face years of a "waste not, want not" water policy.

The reservoirs are down to less than 40 per cent of capacity because of the lengthy lack of rain and outgrowth facilities. Supplies continue to dwindle.

Water Commissioner Stephen J. Carney says New Yorkers must save 200,000,000 gallons a day, cutting the normal consumption of 1,200,000,000 gallons a day down to a billion. If they don't, he warns, pressure will be cut not later than Jan. 1.

A reservoir drop to 25 per cent of capacity would create an acute crisis, with insufficient pressure. Carney says that unless consumption is cut, torrential rain or water rationing are the only things that could save off a cut in pressure.

The city will get additional water supplies in 1952 and in

Warning Is To Beware Of Inflation

Spiral Potential Based on U. S. Spending in Red, Wage-Pension Increases

Controls Unlikely

President Not Expected to Ask for 'Standby' Powers

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Warnings of inflation are fluttering again in the capital, but most of the economic lookouts discount any immediate peril. They see a fairly steady, prosperous sailing throughout 1950.

President Truman is not expected to revive his demands of a year ago for drastic "standby" anti-inflation powers. This is despite the rise in credit to new peaks, the firming of prices, and the fall improvement in business and employment.

Government economists and some private experts report the revival of an "inflationary potential." They base the report mainly on heavy in-theory spending by the government and on the new round of wage-and-pension increases.

Yet few of them expect a major price whirl in the next 12 months.

The "disinflation" is not over for some important industries. Many economists believe the long-range hazard is deflation.

A consensus of the forecasters might boil down to this: 1950 will be another year of high income and high production, on a level of prosperity not too unlike 1949 and not far below record-smashing 1948.

Inflation warnings have been uttered by two bank presidents and other witnesses before Senator Arthur Douglas' (D-Ill.) economic subcommittee. These have stirred speculation whether Mr. Truman will again seek controls over prices, wages, commodity trading and materials allocation.

The decision, if it is not already made, will come in the next month as the President prepares his annual economic message to the new session of Congress.

Polio has also been dealt with by White House planning say a new bid for controls is unlikely and, even if one comes, would be turned down by Congress.

This view is voiced by Senator Flinders of Vermont, a Republican manufacturer and a member of the Senate Finance Committee, committee which usually votes with the Democratic majority.

"I don't see any reason for any inflation controls at all at this time. I think we are on a pretty even keel right now."

The committee may recommend, however, some change in the federal reserve board's powers over credit and interest, a topic which touched off last week's squabble between Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and federal reserve board member Marriner Eccles.

Eccles charged the treasury with having an "easy money bias." He said the treasury's insistence on keeping interest rates low so as to hold down the interest cost on the national debt makes it easy to borrow money, encourages inflation, and prevents federal reserve from keeping a check on credit.

Snyder and federal reserve chairman Thomas H. M. McCabe will battle that issue out in a secret session of Douglas' committee this week.

Mountain all hands admit that it is inflationary for the government to be pouring into the public's hands $2,500,000,000 a year more cash than it takes away from the public. That is the estimated rate of red ink spending for this fiscal year, ending next June 30.

Another 1950 blip will come in January when the veterans administration starts handing out $2,800,000,000 in G. I. insurance refunds. Experience shows that most veterans spend such windfalls quickly.

The real wallow may come when the steel, automobile and other industries have figured out the cost of the new pension packages won by organized labor, and then decide whether to raise prices, and how much.

Wallace Criticizes Reds, Communism

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace says sensible Americans "don't want communism, Catholicism or colonialism to conduct themselves in ways which provoke war."

Praising what he called the "American religion," the Progressive party leader told a church audience last night:

"Those who profess the old-fashioned, common sense American religion . . . are interestingly suspicious of the efforts of the four C's to dominate the world."

In the course of an hour-long address before 1,300 persons at the Community Church of New York, the former vice president was critical of both Russia and communism on several points.

He said the United States must learn that communism is a religion and "like all religions, it cannot be contained by force; it can be stopped only by a superior idea."

10 Persons Are Killed When Buildings Fall

Berlin, Dec. 5 (AP)—Ten persons were killed and 16 injured yesterday when winds up to 80 miles an hour toppled war-weakened buildings across north Germany.

Five persons died in Berlin. Shipping was warned of the storm. More than 100 vessels sought shelter in the mouths of the Weser and Elbe rivers.

Hamburg was one of the hardest hit centers. The new 500-foot mast of the radio station there buckled and fell. Hundreds of persons were evacuated from their homes because of the danger of collapse.

Hundreds of fallen trees blocked roads, snarled traffic and hampered rescue squads.

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—A big squad of detectives was searching today for clues to the slaying of Vito J. Ciriello, 31-year-old paper stock dealer. Shot twice through the head, he was found dead in a Greenwich Village driveway Saturday.

Ciriello apparently was slain elsewhere and his body dumped in the driveway, police said.

Law Student Says He Killed Girl, 16; Says Pact Agreed

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 5 (AP)—A 22-year-old law student yesterday confessed the hammer-slaying of his Evansville High School sweetheart who he said had entreated: "Let's die in each other's arms."

The body of pretty 16-year-old Mary Ellen Harmon, five months pregnant, was found beneath leaves and bushes in a deep sinkhole near Hopkinsville, Ky.

Franklin Thomas Slay of Griffin, Ind., a student at Florida State College, made a written statement to Evansville police and then drew a map showing where the body was.

Evansville authorities went to Hopkinsville and were joined by Kentucky state police. The map was so accurate that searchers went directly to the spot where the body of the girl had lain since her head was split open on the afternoon of Nov. 26.

Slay was extradited from Athens, Ala., last Saturday. He is held on a charge of investigation for kidnapping, but Evansville police said they expected murder charges to be filed at Hopkinsville.

Detective Chief George Hanch quoted the youth's statement as saying that he and the girl left Evansville a week ago Saturday fully agreed on marriage. The next day in Florida, he said they planned to complete their schooling there.

Silent Two Hours

But he said Miss Harmon was silent for about two hours after they left and that he finally asked her what was wrong. His statement quoted her as saying: "Frank, this is wrong and if we do it it won't right our first one meaning of living as man and wife previously."

"So I asked her what she wanted to do," Slay stated, "and she said 'Let's die in each other's arms.' I was shocked, and asked if she was sure, and she replied in the affirmative."

He continued: "I drove up into a side road and after we professed our love for each other we agreed on my shooting her and then myself."

Slay said he attempted to load his .22 caliber rifle but that a piece fell from the breech. "Mary and I were afraid it would not work and we found another way. Things are vague to me from now on."

Slay said he took the hammer from the tool chest and told the girl to bend over in the car. "She did and I struck her. I don't know how many times. Officers who found the body said the girl had been struck four or five times over an eye with the rounded end of a mechanic's hammer."

The young student said he drove to a bridge and tried to jump off but "my last nerve cracked and I couldn't do it." He said "She and I were nearly out of our minds at the time and I hereby plead guilty to the unpremeditated murder of Mary and ask no leniency whatsoever."

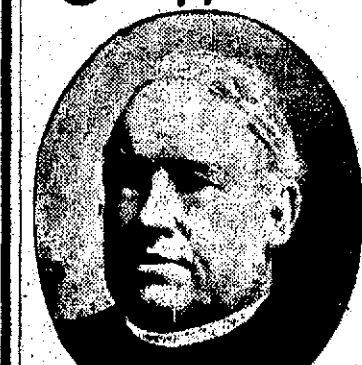

Police at Athens, Ala., arrested Slay the same night after he had left the scene of a minor accident. He was booked as a fugitive on the basis of the kidnapping affidavit filed at Evansville.

Slay told Athens police that he had left the girl at Madisonville, Ky., after she had changed her mind about marrying him. He asserted she had hitch-hiked home.

Harris Named Manager

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today the appointment of Dr. Richard L. Harris as manager of the 1,965-bed veterans hospital now under construction at Peekskill, N. Y. Dr. Harris, a World War 2 veteran, has had 28 years of V.A. medical service. Dr. Harris, now chief medical officer of the V.A. hospital at Los Angeles, Calif., will start his duties at Peekskill Dec. 11. The V.A. estimated that construction of the hospital at Peekskill will be completed in February, and the first patients admitted by next April 1. A graduate of the University of Georgia Medical School, Dr. Harris has been active in psychiatry since 1920. He has served as manager of the veterans hospital at Sheridan, Wyo. He was attached to the V.A. on special duty during part of his World War 2 service as a colonel in the army medical corps.

To Give Lecture

MRS. DOROTHY BIDDLE

Mrs. Dorothy Biddle will lecture and present a demonstration of Christmas table and mantel decorations at the First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway, Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., the Ulster county extension service office announced today.

In case of extremely bad weather, the meeting will be held Friday, Dec. 9.

Mrs. Biddle has for years greeted garden club audiences with her simple and personal approach to the subject of flower arrangement. She requests her audiences to do what is essentially pleasing to them, to express their own tastes and moods through flowers and to relax and enjoy a creative experience.

In the course of her usual annual eight month lecture tour she reaches thousands of homemakers whose dining rooms are more attractive and living rooms more inviting for having listened to her suggestions on the use of flowers in the home.

Sleeps Through Fire

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer, a patient at Bellevue Hospital, slept comfortably last night through a fire in a small kitchen adjoining his suite, but the smoky blaze started a lot more excitement. O'Dwyer is under treatment for exhaustion, heart ailment and a respiratory infection. As the mayor's dinner was being prepared, a dish cloth left near an electric grill caught fire. Someone in the corridor saw a puff of smoke come out of the transom. He called the hospital switchboard, where the operator smashed the glass panel of a fire alarm box. During that time the mayor's bodyguard, Detective Joseph Doyle, had snuffed out the smoldering dish cloth.

Pear Crop Is 311 Per Cent Above '48; 25 Over Norm

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—New York state's pear crop this year was 311 per cent above the 1948 total and 25 per cent above the average yield.

The 1,955,000 bushels compared with 381,000 last year. The State Agricultural Department reported yesterday that New York as a whole was second in the nation in production of pears with 20,890,000 bushels. As the mayor's dinner was being prepared, a dish cloth left near an electric grill caught fire. Someone in the corridor saw a puff of smoke come out of the transom. He called the hospital switchboard, where the operator smashed the glass panel of a fire alarm box. During that time the mayor's bodyguard, Detective Joseph Doyle, had snuffed out the smoldering dish cloth.

The peach crop of 1,287,000 bushels, compared with 1,111,000 last year.

Grapes, in which New York leads the east, dropped to 48,140 tons from last year's total of 65,200 tons.

Jilted Suitor Is Held for Murder

Whippany, N. J., Dec. 5 (AP)—A jilted suitor was arraigned on murder charges last night accused of shooting his former girl friend and her bridegroom in a crowded tavern.

He is Ralph Coolack, 35, of Morristown. Police said Coolack met the couple Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Poole at Poole's tavern here late Saturday night.

After talking with the Poole couple briefly, police said Coolack pulled a pistol and began firing. His fire, shot at the Pooles, both about 29. A second burst sent two bullets into the bartender.

TESTIFIES

Home Luman, 44, of Whippany, police said Luman was in critical condition today at Morristown Memorial hospital.

The Pooles died at All Souls Hospital in Morristown a few hours after the shooting.

Coolack was committed to Morristown county jail pending grand jury action.

Police Chief Eugene Clemens, Jr., said Coolack kept company with Mrs. Poole before her marriage to Poole.

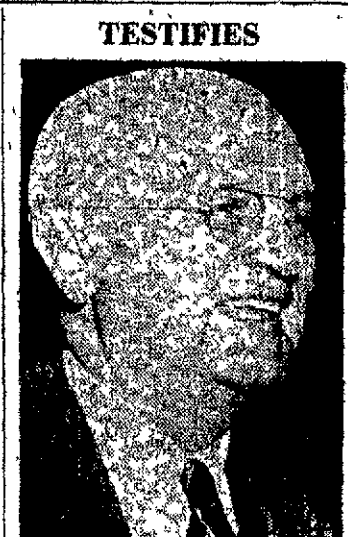

The only other case of homicide ever recorded in Whippany involved Coolack's brother, John, who was sentenced to prison 25 years ago on a manslaughter charge in a stabbing death.

Fishing Vessel Disabled

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Coast guard plane and surface craft searched today for the fishing vessel "The Good Kay," which was reported disabled in the ocean off Manasquan Inlet, N. J. Search started late yesterday after the fishing vessel "Lindy" reported to the coast guard's lifeboat station at Manasquan that "The Good Kay" was in difficulty.

School for Santa Claus

Los Angeles (AP)—Old as he is, Santa's going to school. The Masqueurs, an actors' organization, is opening a school for Kris Kringle. Purpose? To coach actors and talented amateurs for Santa Claus roles. The course is tuition-free. Students must promise to make one gratis appearance at a charitable function.

Fire Survivors Can Resume Classes

Norman, Okla., Dec. 5 (AP)—Most of the survivors of the University of Oklahoma men's dormitory fire that burned three to death and injured 21 early Saturday will be able to attend school as usual today.

Thanks to the generosity of thousands, they are clothed again, have new books, are eating regularly and live in a brick dormitory. The two-story wooden structure they occupied, a former naval barracks, caught fire at 2:45 a.m. Saturday and was razed within an hour and a half.

The tragic news drew an immediate response of cash donations and clothing.

Those who died were Maurice Ahearn, 26, Killingsworth, Conn., credited with saving several lives before being trapped; Sammy Lurie, 20, Clinton, Okla., and Price Starks, 20, Oklahoma City.

Progressives to Ask Outlaw of A-Bomb

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—A drive for a United Nations agreement to outlaw the atomic bomb, and recognition of the Chinese Communist regime are called for in the Progressive party's 1950 congressional elections platform.

The platform and plans for a $250,000 campaign fund drive were drawn up yesterday at a closed meeting of the party's national committee.

Among other international affairs issues in the platform are opposition to "any internationalization plan for Jerusalem that might separate 100,000 Jews from the body of Israel," removal of trade barriers against Russia and eastern Europe, and reaffirmation of the Potsdam declaration against armed forces in Germany.

Students to Help In Clothing Drive

A Save-the-Children "Bundle Day" drive to collect serviceable, used clothing will be launched in the city's public schools Thursday, December 8, Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools, has announced.

The drive, which is part of the eighth National Children's Clothing Crusade conducted under the auspices of a national committee of school superintendents, will last one day.

Clothing obtained from Kingston school children will be distributed by Save the Children Federation in its program of assistance to children in isolated rural areas of the United States and in six European countries.

Superintendent Laidlaw said that wearable clothing of all types, in both baby's, children's and adult sizes, blankets, sheets and other bedding, and pairs of outgrown shoes, are needed.

Prizes Are Awarded For A.P. Newsphotos

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Photographer Charles Hoff of The New York Daily News is the winner of the "Best of Show" award in the 1949 New York State Press Newsphoto contests.

Hoff's picture of a boxer grimacing with pain from a hard blow on the jaw was judged last night best of 380 photos in the contest.

The contest was preliminary to the annual meeting today of the New York State Associated Press Association, made up of approximately 80 A.P. member newspapers in the state. More than 75 newspaper executives were on hand for the one-day session.

Hoff's boxing picture—titled "Ouch"—won for him $50 for best of show and the $50 first prize in the sports picture competition among large newspapers.

Judges were Professor Wesley Clark of the Syracuse University School of Journalism, Dr. I. M. Richter, Albany amateur photographer, and J. Winton Lemen of the Eastman Kodak Company.

Second place winners in each class received $25, and third place winners received $10 each.

Other winners include:

Small paper class—spot news: Second prize, "Red Hot Assignment" by Ralph Short, Poughkeepsie New Yorker.

Small paper class—feature: Second prize, "Cat-Nip" by John Marone, New Rochelle Standard Star.

Small paper class—sports: Second prize, "Miss Personality" by John Marrone, New Rochelle Standard Star.

Third prize, "Still Goal to Go" by Dante J. Roccafi, New Rochelle Standard Star.

Honorable Mention, "A Pair of Deuces" by Warren Inglesse, White Plains Reporter Dispatch.

Vessel Begins January

Tokyo, Dec. 5 (AP)—The stubby wartime merchantman Lakeland Victory started its journey today to bring American Consul General Angus Ward and his staff from Communist China. The 10,500-ton vessel left Yokohama for Kobe on a regularly scheduled commercial run to Taku Bar, off Tientsin in Communist China. The Lakeland Victory is due at the Bar on Dec. 10, the day the Ward party is expected to arrive from Mukden. Ward will decide its itinerary after he boards the ship in deep water some 15 miles off the coast.

In Their Own Way

Washington (AP)—Sessions of the National Interfraternity Conference lasted right up to the last minute before the grand ball, leaving no time for delegates to call for blind dates the arrangements committee had arranged. So the arrangements committee made another arrangement. The girls would be called for in groups, by other fraternity men. "Oh no," said the girls. "We don't want to be herded." So the arrangement committee arranged another arrangement. The girls were asked to get themselves to fraternity houses, where they would dress and be met by their dates. That went over better, but taking the date home is an individual problem, said the committee.

Europeans Spend Three Billions for Share in Recovery

Paris, Dec. 5 (AP)—European countries, says a U. S. government survey, have spent almost $3,000,000,000 of their own money on recovery under the Marshall Plan.

The money is part of counter-part funds, which the European countries must put up in their own currencies, matching Marshall aid from the European Cooperation Administration dollar for dollar.

The European money comes from ordinary government funds, raised by taxation and bonds, and from what European citizens pay for Marshall Plan goods.

The U. S. must pass on the uses to which these counter-part funds are spent. More than half of the three billions has gone to stimulate industrial production. But Britain and Norway used their counter-part funds to reduce a national debt.

O.K. IS O.K.
The origin of "O.K." has been found. Henry L. Mencken, a veteran student of the history of the American speech, has solved a mystery for which many unsatisfactory solutions have long been offered. The one with the most distinguished authority behind it was advanced by President Woodrow Wilson, who derived it from a Choctaw word, "okeh", meaning "all right". He even used to initial his presidential documents "Okeh, W. W." Other explanations purported to trace the phrase back to Greek, Finnish, French, German, Danish, and badly spelled English. "Oll Korrekt".
None of these is so, says Mencken, writing in the New Yorker. O.K. goes back only to 1840 when Martin Van Buren, "Old Kinderhook", as he was known from his estate, was running for re-election. An O.K. club of his supporters made the phrase popular, and the Civil War revived it when lagging. Now it has spread not only over the United States, but over the world from Mexico to Malaya, and has become the best known term in the English language.
If Mencken is right, this origin of O.K. is O.K.

HUMANITY IN LAW
In an Ohio court recently a man whose stalled automobile had been struck by a trolley car won a damage suit in which the "humanitarian doctrine" of the law was invoked. The idea was that the operator of the trolley car had a reasonable chance to stop before hitting the auto, as a matter of human consideration, and that this possibility of humanitarianism was over and above the legal question of whether the motorist had a right to be in the path of the trolley car.

How many times a day does someone or other say, "I know my rights and I'm going to have them"? More than a few traffic accidents have resulted from the actions of drivers, sometimes even pedestrians, who knew their legal rights and were determined to have them. Occasionally it must be recognized, even in a court of law, that there are rules of humanity which transcend the rights of civil law.

CONSUMPTION PROBLEM
Marriner S. Eccles, member and former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and a recognized authority on the economic situation, recently told a Congressional subcommittee that the long range problem of America "is not one of inflation, but of deflation, not one of production, but of consumption—being able to buy what our machines produce".

In a recent speech before the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, President Truman touched the same line of thought. Said he: "It is one mark of civilization to be able to produce abundantly, but it is a more important mark to be able to use abundance for the welfare of mankind." How have we dealt in the past with this problem? In the case of food and other agricultural products, we have cheerfully chopped production down to make it fit the Procrustean bed of "the market". As consumption problems continue for foods, and perhaps arise for industrial products in the foreseeable future, will our approach be the same?

If we want to fulfill the fond dream of a good life for all, we need a new facing of this long range problem, a new scheme by which to take the abundance of our fields and machines and put it in the hands of those who can use it, in exchange for the fruits of their own labors.

GEOGRAPHERS NEXT
Now the Russian geographers are being taken to task by the Kremlin. They are told to drop their researches into the history of the science, such as studies of the ancient Greek master, Ptolemy, and devote themselves to the "drastic differences between Soviet and bourgeois geographical science", in other words, to propaganda.
Geography, the handmaiden of history, used to be a noble science. Like other

JUDGE SCHRIK'S DECISION
Judge Harry E. Schrick's decision regarding Communist teachers in our schools is a long, dull and uninspired document. The judge decided that Communists may teach our children and that there is nothing we can do about it because the Communists have a constitutional right to teach Communism in schools supported by taxpayers' money. Compare that with various decisions to the effect that it is unconstitutional to teach God and religion and moral law—and you can see how far we have become influenced by Marxist materialism. The argument that teaching is not a right but a privilege, that the teacher is, after all, a hired employee who should live up to the terms of employment, leaves the judge cold.
The assumption is that the judge, having spoken, we can do nothing about it. However, there are many things we can do. First of all, it must be seen to it that the judge's decision is appealed up to the Supreme Court of the United States. Meanwhile, parents can object to the indoctrination of their children, making repeated and, if necessary, violent protests and demonstrations against individual teachers. A picket line of mothers, protesting the corruption of their children by teachers, would do a lot of good. Then, of course, in each city and town, public attention can be called, in the press, to individual teachers who abuse the minds and characters of our children. The schools exist for the children, not for the teachers.
Judge Schrick, I am sure, has not studied the subject thoroughly because his document, giving the Communists the right to teach in our schools, would indicate that. So I want to give him a little information that might be of use to him. "Pravda" on September 15, 1927, published an interview between Stalin and "The First American Labor Delegation" who saw the great man on September 9, 1927.
"Talking about how the Communist Party operates, Stalin said:
"Marx and Engels gave the main outlines of the idea of the party as being the vanguard of the proletariat, without which (the party), the proletariat could not achieve its emancipation, could not capture power or reconstruct capitalist society. Lenin's new contribution to this theory was that he developed these outlines further and applied them to the new conditions of the proletarian struggle in the period of imperialism and showed: (a) that the party is a higher form of the class organization of the proletariat; as compared with the other forms of proletarian organization (labor unions, co-operative societies, state organization) and, moreover, its function is to generalize and direct the work of these organizations; (b) that the dictatorship of the proletariat may be realized only through the party as its directing force; (c) that the dictatorship of the proletariat can be complete only if it is led by a single party, the Communist Party, which does not and must not share leadership with any other party; and (d) that without iron discipline in the party, the tasks of the dictatorship of the proletariat to crush the exploiters and to transform class society into socialist society cannot be fulfilled."
This is the main, is the new contribution which Lenin made in his works.
This was said in 1927, which is 22 years ago. It has held good since then and explains much of the history of the satellite countries and the activities of this party in our country. Of course, Judge Schrick declines to take judicial notice of the facts of life, one of them being that he is actually living in the year 1949 and therefore ought to have some appreciation of what happens in such countries as Czechoslovakia and Poland, and even France and Italy.
In a word, what is the use of spending billions on national defense, on the Marshall Plan, on atom bombs, radar, schnorkels, and all the rest of it, if our children are to be taught by Stalin's agents to love Soviet Russia and to hate America, perhaps with a view to teaching them to murder?
How many do you need to ruin a child's mind, if no one fights for the preservation of American ideals and traditions?

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.
DEFECTS OF VISION
When a bald spot appears on the head the individual is naturally alarmed. He has seen cases where the entire head was bald and these people were still young. This condition is called alopecia areata.
While the cause of alopecia areata is not known, it is agreed that emotional disturbance is the underlying factor in many cases. Sir Malcolm Morris, the great skin specialist, in his textbook "Diseases of the Skin" states that he has observed a number of cases of baldness immediately following mental shock. A few months ago I quoted Dr. R. E. Peck, in "The Georgia Medical Association Journal", in which he reported four cases of alopecia areata, two of which were caused by sudden and overwhelming fright, and two caused by chronic anxiety.
In "Archives of Dermatology and Syphilology", Dr. Harley A. Haynes, Jr., and Thayer L. Parry, Akron, Ohio, state that as far back as 1902 peripheral (pertaining to the outside part of the body—skin or hair) nervous irritation was suggested as being associated with errors of vision, eyestrain being the underlying cause. In a series of 61 cases of alopecia under their observation, it was found that 95 per cent had astigmatism caused by a defect in the refractive surface of the eye. These physicians do not state that these errors of refraction are the "exact" cause of alopecia areata but that this eye disturbance sets up a nervous irritation which causes the disturbance in the hair.
Corrective glasses were prescribed for all these patients and regrowth of hair followed within three months. These corrective glasses must be worn continuously. This was illustrated by a 19-year-old patient who had a regrowth of hair and no return of the alopecia areata until three years later when he stopped wearing glasses.

Who says that the world doesn't move? Perhaps no city in the world is more conservative than Mecca, the holy city of the Mohammedans. For a long time the philosophy has been, "If it was good enough for Mohammed, it is good enough for us". The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Washington—Here is a contrast between what two groups of Americans have done to influence their country's standing abroad. One is the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Texas. The other is the half-indebted Senate Appropriations Subcommittee traveling through Spain.
First, the antics of the senators. The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, traveled in a special air force plane, including six crew members, two stenographers, three clerks, three wives and a doctor—Dr. William E. Lovelace of Albuquerque—to look after the health of New Mexico's Senator Dennis Chavez.
"They call this a junket," charged fully explained Senator Thomas to newsmen, "but that's a misnomer. The country's spending seven billions of the taxpayers' money, and the taxpayer is entitled to know how the money is being spent. That's what we're looking after."
But the Senator glossed over the fact that the U.S.A. is spending not one cent of money in Spain. "One of the senators had a relative in Spain he wanted to meet," Thomas explained, presumably referring to Senator Chavez.
Arriving in Madrid at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, the committee was received by Foreign Minister Martin Artale, then attended a reception at the American embassy, then drove the next day to Toledo, attending a fiesta, witnessed the training maneuvers of some young bulls for a bull-fight and saw a Gypsy "flamenco" dance.
During the latter part of this fast-moving entertainment, several of the Senators obviously were in no condition to report intelligently on what they were seeing.
Bibulous Senators
This column is not interested in whether a public official drinks or doesn't drink. We have no great concern even if he gets drunk—as long as it's in private. But when a group of U. S. senators spend the taxpayers' money on an official mission where they represent the United States government, then they have an obligation to keep sober—at least in public.
The United States has great prestige in Spain. Americans are

Admiral Sherman Has Given Outspoken, Well-Balanced Speech on Needs of U. S. Navy
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 5.—Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, has just made a speech to the U. S. Naval Academy midshipmen in which he underlines—though in restrained and tactful phrases—the essential points that Admiral Denfeld, his predecessor, and the other witnesses before the House Armed Services Committee made in interpreting the missions of the United States navy in peace and war.
Nobody, it is hoped, now will call Admiral Sherman a "Fanny Dan" or "disloyal" or a "Rabbi" or as speaking in disregard of the so-called "unification" laws of the land. For his speech is about the most forthright and well-balanced statement of the needs of the navy that has yet been made.
Whereas Admiral Denfeld complained that the navy had not been admitted to full and equal partnership on the defense team, Admiral Sherman puts the case for equality on less glamorous terms but without accusation. He says:
"Ability to control the seas and the airways which cross the seas is essential to our security, and to our struggle to prevent any hostile power from so dominating all of Europe, Asia, and Africa as to menace our survival. Our national security requires that we maintain a balanced team of fighting services and you may be sure that the navy is and will be a vital element in the fighting team—a vital necessity in our national life."
Here are excerpts from the speech which are of the utmost significance in spelling out the future of the navy as Admiral Sherman sees it:
"The aircraft carrier has become the ship of the line, and the battleship a supporting ship for the carrier task group or for shore bombardment."
"For the foreseeable future the fast carrier task force will be the principal offensive striking element in our fleet—the core of their offensive power, available to strike far from our own bases and to cover and support the operations of other services. This force gives us the power to move against enemy shores while denying the enemy that same freedom of operation against us. This force is essential to all naval operations."
"Amphibious operations will continue to play an important part in the navy of the future."
"There actually exist in the world today two very powerful navies with opposite and therefore intensely conflicting intentions. That we have aircraft carriers and the other naval power has none, that we have a large amphibious force and the other naval

AS PEGLER SEES IT
By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 4—I have received the following letter from Thomas S. Brush, of New Haven, Conn., who is the son of Miss Katharine Brush, the noted fiction writer, and seems to me to be interesting on over-land in the atmosphere of ivory and nut-brown ale at Yale (trav) where he is talking on a deck-load of literary knowing:
"Dear Peg:
"Once, about 15 years ago, when I was an assiduous collector of autographs, you did me the very great kindness of letting me have for my collection a few choice letters written by you by various famous people. I carefully filed them away as 'The Westbrook Pegler sub-collection of the Tommy S. Brush autograph collection.' So help me, that is what I called them!
"Not long after that, I wrote to James Montgomery Flagg, asking for his autograph. He sent it to me promptly and wrote on the card: 'So your mother ruled her boy to be an autographer!' That killed that, right there. I never collected another autograph from that day to this.
"Now, in my apartment here in New Haven, I have been spending many idle hours reading over, from or throwing away, a lot of stuff which I have been accumulating in boxes and boxes since I was a boy. I have a piece of paper on another. Hidden away in the junk drawer of my trunk Pegler's sub-collection of autographs is the other day, apparently as lost.

"I don't know what you and I have onto this kind of the future might want to keep one of two of these letters and so with your thanks, I return them to you for your collection."
There are half a dozen letters but I shall confine this essay to two of them.
The first is handwritten on a letterhead with a crest composed of three spears which seem to be the emblem of the United States Navy. It is signed "S. Westbrook Pegler".

"My Dear Mr. Pegler:
"I must take this opportunity to compliment you on your 'Crash in Comfort' of Sept. 1. Your 'haphazard' and 'concocted' about crashes are correct. The whole structure of our national aviation has been built up on a shaky foundation. A few capitalists received the money for

Questions-Answers

Q—Do minnows grow to be large fish?
A—No. The minnow is a distinct species of fish, and one that is full grown attains a length of three to four inches. In some specimens as long as seven inches have been reported.
Q—Does corn grow wild?
A—Corn never has been found in a wild state and its origin is a mystery. Evidence indicates that the plant from which it is derived is now extinct.
Q—What type of automobile is most popular?
A—Four-door sedans are the most popular body type for cars, followed by two-door sedans, convertibles, business coupes, and station wagons in that order.
Q—How does Stone Mountain compare with other mountains of stone?
A—Stone Mountain is about 16 miles east of Atlanta, Ga. This massive dome of miocene granite, seven miles in circumference and over 800 feet high, is said to be the largest body of exposed granite in the world.
Q—Where is the Theodore Roosevelt National Park?
A—The new Theodore Roosevelt National Memorial Park covers 58,000 acres along the Little Missouri river in North Dakota, a part of Theodore Roosevelt's Elk Horn Ranch.

A Mild Boof
Neiman Marcus Dept. Store
Dallas, Texas

May I register a complaint.

Yesterday afternoon I was sitting in my office, minding my P's, Q's, manners and business, when an expressman walked in and handed me a box big enough to house a midget. It was wrapped in Santa Claus paper, and there was a fancy sticker pasted on top with Christmas greetings from Neiman Marcus.

"Gosh," I said, "I didn't know they cared."

I opened the box, and there in a sea of silver excelsior I found a dozen gift packages, each looking like what the well-dressed Christmas tree will wear.

I picked up the phone. "Don't call me for the next ten minutes," I said to the switchboard girl. "I'm in conference."

Having spent a couple of years in Texas, I of course had heard a good deal about your Aladdin's lamp of a store and so, as I untied the fluffy pulls of ribbon on the first box, my head began to swim (Australasian crawl, mostly).

Box Number One contained several cubic inches of exactly nothing.

Evidently a mistake in the shipping department," I thought, and went on to Number Two. It was filled with grade A, super-crinkly tissue paper.

Number Three, however, contained an impressive collection of diamonds—that is, little cards with pictures of diamonds which you were willing to let go for a fraction—say, six-fifths—of their value.

Number Four was a heavier box, and I scissored it open with renewed hope. But you gentlemen packed it, and you know what was in it—a mail order catalogue!

Well, by this time I realized I had been hoaxed by an advertising gimmick, and so I filed the rest of the packages in my wastebasket. And by the time I had cleaned up the mess of excelsior and cardboard, I was ready to go down to Macy's basement, buy a pair of socks and say, "That for Neiman-Marcus."

Now, it's generally conceded that you guys operate one of the smartest stores in the country, and it's probably presumptuous to tell you how to run your business. But it does seem to me that your Christmas promotion stunt violates the first rule of salesmanship—never build a customer up to a let-down.

Perhaps I can highlight the dangers involved in this procedure by telling you of another fellow who made the same mistake.

One afternoon while we were rehearsing the Aquacade at the New York World's Fair, a skinny galsot walked up and asked for a job.

"What sort of act do you do?" I asked.

"I'm unsinkable," he said. "I did a triple take. 'What do you mean, unsinkable?'"

"Just that," he said. "Because of the air in my arteries, it's impossible for me to sink—even with a slab of concrete on my chest."

"This I've got to see," I said. "Get into the pool and start floating—I'll dig up a concrete slab somewhere."

The rehearsal came to a stop. My swimmers hoisted themselves from the water and sat on the lip of the tank, while Marshall

Wayne and a dozen other fine divers squatted on their springboards. Stagehands, located a concrete slab in back of the stadium, and handed it to Johnny Weissmuller and Stubby Kruger who, at a signal from me, lowered it onto the stomach of the self-declared cork.

He sank—like a slab of concrete.

I waited half a minute and then, as bubbles came fizzing to the surface, I got panicky and yelled, "Drag him out!"

Wham!—into the water went Weissmuller, Holm and my whole cast. Aquabelles and Aquababies. Down to the bottom they perished and finally, after a long, hundred seconds, they got Nutsy Fagin out from under the concrete, up on dry land and over a barrel.

"I don't mean to pry," I said when some of the dampness was out of him, "but did you ever try floating with a slab of concrete on your chest before?"

The dehydrated joker shook his head.

"Then what gave you the cock-eyed notion you were unsinkable?"

"I just thought I'd take a chance," he said.

And there you have it, gentlemen—the story of a salesman who promised more than he could deliver—and it may explain why I'm allergic to presentless presents.

Next Christmas, if I'm still on your list, send me a postcard or, if you want to spend yourself, a wall calendar. As I see it, it's better not to play Santa Claus at all than to put on false whiskers and come down the chimney with nothing but hot air in your bag.

Sincerely,

As Pegler Sees It

the government then lined their pockets. Equipment, operation and development is a secondary matter. The great development program that we inaugurated after the war was thrown in the discard. Aeronautically incompetent persons have the deciding voice everywhere. There is not a suitable airplane or engine for passenger traffic in use in America.

A modern passenger airplane should, among other things, be equipped with:

"1. Diesel, non-inflammable engines.

"2. Automatic gyroscopic pilots that work.

"3. Reasonable altimeter that tells how far the ground is underneath, not the column of air overhead.

"4. Cabin parachutes that will take all passengers out at once when necessary.

"5. Defrosting equipment.

"6. Landing stools 30 feet long (?) that will land the ship when they touch the ground.

"7. Wholly redesigned ships that are sound aeronautically and operationally—none of the present ones are.

"This is just a drop in the bucket. The people should know about these things. The trouble here is that we have no single and separate Department of Aviation as all other nations have so all matters relating to air are determined by our flying outfits and also because the air profiteers with their money control to a great extent the press and are able through their lobbies to get next in Washington. I shall be happy to help you in any campaign of education along this line."

(Signed) WILLIAM MITCHELL

This was the martyr, General Billy Mitchell, who was cashiered for fighting for a good air force and low-flying the battleship.

Although some of the conditions which he criticized have been improved, the infernal machine is still the standard engine and the passenger liners still carry in their wings the fuel for the pyre of passenger and crew when liners come down hard or unevenly. If General Mitchell were alive he would, I am sure, raise hell with the air complacency for air-line executives who just about the frequent "outage" of engines which backfire, act "tough" or just quit and even twist loose from their moorings and fly off. That reflects careless and incompetent management in the Maintenance Department and Mitchell had no friends in controversies involving facts, negligence, selfishness and fault in aviation.

The other letter which Tommy Brush returned is as follows:

"The White House, Washington, Aug. 14, 1935

"Dear Westbrook Pegler:

"The western trip is still entirely tentative, when the start is made, however, it will be possible for you to go along and I hope you will consider this an advance welcome aboard our train.

"I am glad to hear that you will be with us and I shall look forward to seeing you.

Very sincerely yours,

To Hit Sex Crimes

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—The New York Sheriff's Association plans to press for state legislation aimed at reducing the number of sex crimes. The association's crime prevention committee announced Saturday it would ask the legislature to require that prison wardens notify the sheriff of a sex offender's home county when such a prisoner is released.

Clifford F. Barnes, Cortland county sheriff and committee chairman, explained that the sheriff's efforts would be "concentrated on repeat."

Woman Is Injured While Standing Behind Parked Car

"Don't stand behind your automobile's tail light," state police officials at the Lake Katrine substation warned today, in reporting the second accident within two weeks directly attributed to that cause.

Mrs. Pearl Smith, 20, of 338 South Wall street received a dislocated left knee and a laceration to her leg about 8:15 p. m. Sunday when she was struck by another automobile while she was standing behind her car assisting her husband, Fred Smith, Jr., to put on the chains, state police said. She was treated at Kingston Hospital, troops reported.

The Smith automobile was parked on Route 9W about two and one-half miles south of Saugerties when another automobile, driven by Peter Fondino, 28, of Glasco, struck Mrs. Smith, troops said.

The other similar accident occurred on November 23 less than two miles from the same spot. Five persons were injured and two of them, Patricia Smith, 19, of Mechanicville, Pa., and Sylvia Heberling, 19, of Newark, N. J., are still patients at Kingston Hospital. Miss Smith's condition was reported as "good" and Miss Heberling as "improving" this morning by hospital authorities.

December Term Opens

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

The Christmas lights are on again
And all the shops are gay
As peace on earth... good will to men
Remains our prayer... today.

It may be cold... the wind may blow
Yet joy is in the air
The young and old are on the go
Everywhere.

There's laughter
We'll soon be planning Christmas trees
With lights... snow... and lights
And there will place the gifts that please
The hearts that love unity.

This is the time when Santa's voice
Brightens the stores and street
This is the time we all rejoice
When friends and neighbors meet.

Yuletide and that Christmas spirit glow
If you find out your part
You'll learn that peace inspiring grows
With Christmas... in your heart.

Firemen Answer Several Calls During Week-End

Firemen from Wiltwyck station and Ulster Hose Company answered a call at 7:22 p. m. Sunday for a chimney fire in a house owned by Otis Davis and occupied by Scotty Smith on Lucas avenue extension.

Equipment from Wiltwyck was also dispatched to 73 Franklin street at 2:28 p. m. Saturday where fuel oil placed in the wrong container overflowed on a basement floor. Some of the oil ignited before the furnace was shut off, firemen said.

Firemen were also called at 3:32 p. m. Sunday to investigate an odor of gas at Dederick's Drug Store, 308 Wall street, and found it to be coal gas.

Three Thefts Reported To Police at Week-End

Three thefts were reported to the police over the week-end.

Robert Humphries, 244 Clinton avenue, reported at 8 p. m. Sunday that a bicycle and wheel were taken from his sedan while it was parked at Rider's gas station, North Front street and Clinton avenue, Saturday night, and John Hill of Saugerties said a new set of tire chains was taken from his car while he was at the Orpheum Theatre Saturday.

Archie Buehneider, 755 Broadway, reported at 3:22 p. m. Saturday that his overcoat, valued at $110 was taken from Judge's Restaurant, Albany avenue.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and William A. Krum were assigned to investigate the thefts.

Seeks New Doctor

Block Island, R. I., Dec. 5 (AP)—For the second time in a year this small island may have to hang out a "help wanted" sign for a doctor.

Dr. Lorenzo Orlando, who succeeded the late Dr. Charles F. Perry as the community's lone year-round physician, has announced plans to quit Jan. 1. Dr. Orlando, formerly of Hackensack, N. J., said in a letter to the town council his low income and $100 monthly rent compel him "to seek a living and support of my family elsewhere."

Two Trolleys Collide

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Six persons were injured seriously and two were thrown into a pile to today when two Brooklyn trolley cars collided. One car rammed into the rear of another that was waiting for a traffic light. All the windows in both cars were shattered. A fuso box caught fire in the second car. Black smoke and flames filled this car and its 30 passengers screamed with fright. Two policemen and a priest called them.

Auffrey Returns Home

Paris, Dec. 5 (AP)—Guy Auffrey, Frenchman expelled from Poland who disappeared on the way home, arrived by train here today, escorted by two police inspectors.

After Auffrey disappeared from the train bringing him and six other French people expelled from Poland on espionage charges, the French rail traffic officer at Elmersted had erroneously said his body had been found near Offenbach, in the American zone of Germany.

1,200 Principals Meet

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Approximately 1,200 principals of secondary and elementary schools met today to attend the annual conventions of their state associations. Most of the day's program was set aside for panel discussions. Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl of Minnesota will be the principal speaker tonight before one of the organizations, the New York State Association of Secondary School Principals.

Produce Witness

Sarajevo, Dec. 5 (AP)—Pint-sized Arson Boromovic, former state prosecutor here during the war-time German occupation, produced a surprise witness in Yugoslavia's spy trial today to support his claim he had an okay from Marshal Tito's Partisans to hold his friends on trial here on charges of collaborating with the Germans during the war and of working as a spy for Russia after the liberation.

Hamburger Heaven Opens

Hamburger Heaven at 14 St. James street opened to the public Thursday. A large number of persons stopped there during the day to be among the first customers at the new eating place, Louis "Chic" Provenzano, proprietor, on hand to greet his customers, expressed himself as being well pleased with the opening.

The lunch counter and restaurant gleamed with an all-new interior of knotty pine and stainless steel fixtures. The atmosphere was cheerful, with Provenzano receiving congratulations from all sides. Baskets of flowers from well-wishers were placed in the window and inside the room. The place is directly across the street from The Hofbrau, which is also managed by Provenzano. (Photo by Owings)

Funeral services for Dr. Joseph H. Rosenberg, prominent upstate dentist, will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. from the Broadway Methodist Chapel, 174th street and Broadway, New York. Rabbi Sylvan Steinberger and Samuel Director officiated at the largely attended services. During the time the body rested at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph H. Rosenberg, hundreds of people comprising clergy, professional men, business groups and friends, filed by the bier in a silent tribute of respect. A profusion of flowers completely banked the flag-draped casket. Saturday night members of Kingston Post 350, American Legion, directed by their commander, Morgan D. Ryan, conducted a funeral service for their late comrade, Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., chief of guard.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Quiet prevailed today in the stock market which rested after reaching an average 13-month high point.

An active early morning attempt to extend last week's rally faded away within a short time, and the entire list turned in a mixed performance.

Some of the best gains were shaved down while here and there many of the leaders slipped to the minus side of the column.

Stocks advancing included Nickel Plate, Barnard Oil, Standard Oil (N. J.), Boeing Aircraft, Philip Morris, Allied Chemical, Kennecott Copper, Pan American Airways, and Warner Brothers.

Titling lower were Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Philco, American Smelting, Homestake Mining, American Tobacco, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, and Anaconda Copper.

House Investigator

administration officials were involved and that the names would come out in public hearings. The hearings never took place. McDowell was defeated in the last election. He was a Republican.

Jordan was stationed at Great Falls as a liaison officer between U. S. and Russian officers at the time he says atomic materials were loaded through that base. Suitcases full of secret government documents, some dealing with the atomic project, also were loaded aboard Russia-bound planes at Great Falls, Jordan said.

The Air Force began digging through its records for the report Jordan said he made. As yet it has found none, it said, adding that no formal investigation is being made.

—Just a check for any report received from Jordan.

Congressional investigators were probing the charges, at the direction of Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.) of the Senate-House Atomic Committee.

Meanwhile, in New York, Robert E. Sherwood, who was closely associated with Hopkins and President Roosevelt during the war, called Jordan's statement "one of the most amazing cloak and bull stories I have ever heard."

He said that "Hopkins did not discuss topmost secrets over the public telephone." He added that Hopkins was away from the White House, a "very sick man" at the time of the incidents which Jordan connected with Hopkins.

Defense "Supposition" Great Falls, Mont., Dec. 5 (AP)—Russell L. Meredith, commander of Great Falls Army Air Base in 1944-45, says he thinks a lot of the charges that atomic material was shipped to Russia through the base during the war "are just supposition."

G. Racey Jordan, a wartime army captain here, made the charges Friday in a radio interview.

Meredith, now retired, told the Great Falls Tribune last night that the charges "might have been true and might not have, but I believe most of it is a lot of baloney."

"It looks like a case of Monday morning quarterbacking to me," Meredith said.

Meredith is a retired colonel, living near Augusta, Mont.

430,000 Miners ...

ments reportedly would be up to 35 cents.

Top industry spokesmen minimized the significance of the "Kentucky Plan."

"It's practically a shotgun wedding with a small group of smaller-type operators," said President Joseph E. Moody of the Southern Coal Producers Association.

Lewis is due to begin negotiations in New York tomorrow with the anthracite (hard coal) industry representatives. They operate mainly in eastern Pennsylvania and employ 80,000 United Mine Workers. Like the soft coal miners, the anthracite diggers are on a three-day week under Lewis' orders.

Hickey to Address

Local Naval Reserve

Captain A. S. Hickey, U.S.N. (retired), a lifelong resident of Kingston, will address the Kingston Naval Reserve on December 7, the anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

His topic will be "Events Leading up to and after Pearl Harbor." Captain Hickey is a graduate of U. S. Naval Academy and served with distinction during the last two wars. He is extremely well qualified to talk on the topic because of his wide background in military as well as diplomatic fields.

After the meeting refreshments will be served and all members are requested to attend.

The meeting will be held at the American Legion Building, O'Reilly street, at 8 p. m. of the Voyageurs Society of 40 and 8, led his delegation in the ritual as did Dr. Harold Mandell, exalted ruler with officers and members of Kingston Lodge, 550, B.P.O. Elks. Present for the Elks services also was a group representing the Ladies Auxiliary of B.P.O.E. The huge delegation of people comprising clergy, professional men, business groups and friends, filed by the bier in a silent tribute of respect. A profusion of flowers completely banked the flag-draped casket. Saturday night members of Kingston Post 350, American Legion, directed by their commander, Morgan D. Ryan, conducted a funeral service for their late comrade, Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., chief of guard.

Funeral services for Dr. Joseph H. Rosenberg, prominent upstate dentist, will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. from the Broadway Methodist Chapel, 174th street and Broadway, New York. Rabbi Sylvan Steinberger and Samuel Director officiated at the largely attended services. During the time the body rested at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph H. Rosenberg, hundreds of people comprising clergy, professional men, business groups and friends, filed by the bier in a silent tribute of respect. A profusion of flowers completely banked the flag-draped casket. Saturday night members of Kingston Post 350, American Legion, directed by their commander, Morgan D. Ryan, conducted a funeral service for their late comrade, Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., chief of guard.

Boy Has Own Ideas Of Phone Operator And Informs Her

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 5 (AP)—The small boy and the telephone operator had a slight misunderstanding.

She couldn't catch the number he wanted and asked him to repeat it several times. Finally, he exploded:

"You operators are so dumb." The operator cut him off.

Fifteen minutes later, a woman's voice inquired if this was the operator who had cut her nine-year-old son off the line.

The operator replied it was and the woman said, "Just a minute, please."

"My mother wants me to apologize to you for what I said," declared the small boy.

The operator accepted his apology and connected him with the number he had been trying to get.

Final scene a half hour later—the small boy and the operator on the phone again. The small boy speaks:

"My mother just went out of the house. I still think you're dumb."

Favors 'United Strength'

Hempstead, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow, says the western nations can not hope to profit by making friendly advances to Russia. Their only advantage, he said, must be "united strength, clearly stated and openly displayed."

He made the statements at graduation exercises at Hofstra College, which awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Codes May Evolve

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Some voluntary "codes of fair practice" may come out of broad new study of federal policies in the anti-trust field. That was one of the major goals set up by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, in announcing the plans for the study. He listed as others: A reduction of confusion about existing anti-trust laws and clarification for the businessman what he can and can not do legally.

Can Give No Date

New Delhi, Dec. 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told a news conference today he could give no date now for India's recognition of Communist China, but said the recognition "could not be delayed very long."

Will Arraign Seven

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Seven men will be arraigned in Brooklyn gamblers court today, accused of being members of an alleged $300,000-a-week Italian policy ring. The men were arrested in a Saturday night raid, the third in six months against the alleged lottery. All seven were charged with conspiracy and four were charged also with possessing policy slips. Chief Inspector of Police August Flath said three of the men were seized in a Brooklyn printing plant, which Flath described as headquarters of the alleged ring. Four others were arrested in parked cars at a nearby intersection.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Back in 1882 on December 7, the following item appeared in "The Kingston Journal and Weekly Freeman": "At the request of the uptown merchants the Wallkill Valley Railroad officials have arranged to run a train to this city to arrive at the Junction at 10:30 o'clock instead of 12 o'clock as heretofore. This has been done so that people from the country towns can come in the city and do their trading, and yet have time to get home the same day, and the uptown merchants consider that the West Shore people have done them a great favor by making this change."

Remember the blizzard of 1888—on Friday, February 13, well I guess it was all forgotten, by March 1, 1888 for there is no mention of it I can find in the "Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal" of that date.

From the social and entertainment column in past reads: "On Friday night, March 9, the Flisk Jubilee Singers will give a concert in Liscomb's Opera House, under the auspices of the Rondout Young Men's Christian Association." (Liscomb Opera House is today, the Orpheum Theatre site.)

"A minstrel company practices nightly in the upper room of the Kingston Argus building. There is a drum corps, and if indefatigable work is sure of success, they certainly ought to be successful." (The Kingston Argus building is just about where W. T. Grant store is today.)

"The members of the chorus who will sing at the Gilmore Band concert, Kingston Opera House, March 8, are being trained by Howard Osterhout of Kingston. Among the features never before introduced at band concerts will be the anvil chorus. Brazen men, costumed in red shirts will make the anvil ring while cannons will be fired with the aid of electricity. The sale of seats to subscribers will be begun at Winter's Rondout, and Kingston, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Anybody can become a subscriber by simply leaving their names with the Messrs. Winter." Also "Gus" Williams will appear in the Academy of Music on the evening of March 5 under the auspices of Rapid Hose Company, No. 1 of Rondout."

Another item reads: "Alexander A. Stern, of Rondout, has finished his first course at Long Island Medical College." From social column: "Captain A. E. Anderson and Charles F. Cantine of Rondout are now en route to Florida." also "George and Miss N. Hutton of Rondout will sail for Jacksonville, Florida. They will later on go to West Indies."

Another item: "Miss Susie Bell, daughter of Elvira Bell of Kingston, seeing an offer made by one of the Professors of Princeton College, that a history of the United States would be given to the pupil of a school writing the best essay on George Washington, competed for the same, and has received word that she has won the prize. Miss Bell is a pupil of No. 11 school, this city."

"Frederick C. Markle, of North Marlborough, Ulster county, celebrated his 94th birthday anniversary on Sunday by partaking of communion at the Reformed Church there. Mr. Markle united with the church in 1825."

"Wiltwyck Hose Co.'s three-day fair and bazaar netted nearly $1,100. On Wednesday evening 11 turkeys were eaten. The Gypsy Encampment brought in $97.50. They give a list of booths and what was brought in back at this 1888 bazaar."

Questions Are Removed

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—The State Civil Service Commission announced today that questions regarding place of birth have been removed from applications for civil service jobs. The commission said the step was taken to eliminate a source of possible discrimination because of national origin. The new application forms ask only whether a candidate for a job is a native born or naturalized citizen. Under state law, citizenship is a requirement for competitive positions.

New Type Lights Are Demonstrated

Kolts Electric Supply Company, 25 Grand street, sponsored a demonstration of new developments in fluorescent lighting at the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation's auditorium in Kingston on November 30.

The lights which were demonstrated were the new series of General Electric fluorescent lamps. About 70 representatives of the electrical industry and interested persons attended.

Donald E. Voorhies, engineer in the lamp department of General Electric's Mohawk district, described the lamps as distinct sources which "bring out the full beauty of all colors and are complementary to people's complexions. He envisioned the lamps as becoming increasingly popular for home use."

The new line of G. E. fluorescent lamps for general lighting purposes consists of four lamps, two of which provide a cool atmosphere, and two a warm atmosphere. Each group of two contains a high efficiency or "standard" lamp, and a lamp of best color rendition, or "de luxe" lamp. The "de luxe" lamps contain the special phosphor which has been developed by G. E. scientists after search for a fluorescent powder which would eliminate the color rendering deficiencies which have characterized fluorescent lamps in the past.

This phosphor development enables G.E. to simplify for the user his task of selecting the proper fluorescent lamps to fill his lighting requirements, Voorhies said. First he decides whether he wants a warm or cool atmosphere. Then he determines which is more important to him, best color rendition or maximum light. "De luxe" lamps will be preferred in living areas, restaurants, lounges, specialty shops, club rooms and other places where it is important that colors and complexions appear their best, Voorhies said. "Standard" lamps will be most effective in working areas, such as factories, offices, schools and most stores, where the need for high-efficiency lighting is greater.

The cool lights are intended to provide a "cool, crisp, modern atmosphere, like a clear morning in spring," he said. The warm lights give a softer light, similar to that of filament bulb lighting, he said. Standard lamps are already available, Voorhies said. The "de luxe" lamps will be available in the 40-watt size in limited quantities by early 1950, he said.

Qualities of the different lamps were illustrated in color booths, in which at various times the effects of the light were illustrated on colored wall paper, a raw beefsteak, a live model and flowers.

(Trade Mark Reg.)

Father, in the presence of Horace's mother. You have acted very wisely indeed in the act of sending him. It may seem a small offense, Horace, but it has its foundations in the same error of the world's too general disobedience. I am proud of you. I am relieved. I want my son to grow up to be a strong, honorable man. I want him (crying for breath) —

Little Horace (trailing enthusiastically to his mother) Mother, isn't Daddy interesting?

Don't try to fool all the people at the time he is called to fool your wife.

Wife: You don't love me any more.
Husband: Why dear, I do.
Wife: You wouldn't love a woman with such old clothes as I have.

One of the happier results of commercial art is the disappearance of the arty artist.

Home is the place where the great are small and the small are great.

Harry: I've never had an argument with a girl yet that I couldn't settle.

Jerry: What a bank account you must have.

Some time we'll tell you about the fellow and girl who married on a fifty-fifty basis—she was half-sober and he was half-drunk.

Diner—Here, waitress, take this chicken away; it's a tough as a paving stone.
Waitress—Maybe it's a Plymouth Rock, sir.

Fibber McGee: Why keep your car to the ground? Keyholes are much cleaner.

The honeymoon is over when the bride serves hot tongue and cold shoulder to the groom.

John Brinnier Marries Katherine Meddaugh At First Congregational Church, New Milford

The wedding of Miss Katherine Brinnier Meddaugh, 27 Pearl street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Meddaugh, New Milford, Conn., to John Van Ethen Brinnier, son of Mrs. Parker K. Brinnier, 26 Pearl street, took place Saturday at the First Congregational Church, New Milford, Conn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Roland Ewing, pastor. Harold Hunt was organist. The bride's brother, Burton Meddaugh, played as soloist. Air and Arise by J. S. Bach; Ave Maria by Schubert. White chrysanthemums, palms and candelabras with white candles were used for the church decorations.

Mr. Meddaugh gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown was fashioned of blue pink slipper satin with lace yoke. She wore a veil of French illusion with close fitting cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with white orchids.

Mrs. Raymond Peterson of New Milford as matron of honor wore a gown of pale blue satin brocade trimmed with midnight blue velvet. Her midnight blue bonnet was trimmed with a pale blue plume. She carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink carnations.

John Larkin of this city was best man. Ushers were John Gottlieb and Dr. George Bushnell, cousin of the bridegroom, both of this city.

A reception for 75 guests was held at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Meddaugh, Roxbury, Conn. Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Brinnier left for a wedding trip. For traveling she chose a navy blue faille suit with powder blue hat and red coat. They will live at 26 Pearl street.

The bride was graduated from Rhode Island State College in February 1947 and received her bachelor of science degree. She was a member of Chi Omega Sorority. For the past three years, Mrs. Brinnier has been a home economist for Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

Mr. Brinnier was graduated from Rider College in February 1947 and received his bachelor of science degree. He was a member of Delta Sigma Pi.

COMPLAINTS INCREASE AGAINST LIPSTICK SMUDGES

A reader sends this suggestion: "Having just given a lunch party, I am again annoyed at the messy red smears that have been left on my very finest table napkins. This happens so often I am wondering whether or not you think placing a paper napkin in the folds of the linen one would be correct and helpful?"

Understand what the paper napkin was for. It seems to me that the only practical suggestion is to make sure that people know about the preparations for sale at every drug counter which will keep lipstick from rubbing off.

On Opening Doors

Dear Mrs. Post: Does a man always have to open doors for a lady? Sometimes it seems less polite for him to go ahead than for her to follow and let her open them. What about revolving doors?

Answer: Ordinarily she opens the door herself. But if it is a heavy door he would say, "Let me go first." Then he would go through the door and hold it open for her. If a revolving door, he holds the edge of it while she enters one partition and then he follows in the next and keeps the door from either stopping or shoving her.

Chair Does not Bestow Repose

Dear Mrs. Post: If, as you have said, the wife is head of the dining table, at which end is the chair with the arms placed? Our set has only one such chair.

Answer: Correctly there should be two arm chairs but when there is only one there is no rule. Usually, however, it is the wife's chair, but if she is a very little woman and he a very big man, it obviously is best that he have the big chair.

Signing Cards to Children's Friends

Dear Mrs. Post: I have occasion to send greetings to some of the friends of my own children and never know exactly how to write my name. They are all grown, but they don't call me Helen.

Answer: You sign your name Helen Jones as to everyone else.

Would you like to know the proper linen and napkins to use for dinners or luncheons? Mrs. Post suggests a wide variety of linens, also how to mark and fold them in leaflet E-32. To obtain a copy send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Gray-Lyons Marriage Announced

Accord, Dec. 5—Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Betty Jean Lyons to Earl Harry Gray, Saturday, November 28, at the Rochester Reformed Church parsonage. The Rev. John Hart officiated.

The bride wore an aqua tulle dress with white corsage and black accessories. Mrs. George Green of Accord was matron of honor. Mr. Green, shipmate of the bridegroom's on S. S. Swift Arrow, was best man.

The couple will make their home in Accord.

The bride was graduated from Kerhonkson High School, class of '48. Her husband attended Kerhonkson High School and served 2 1/2 years in the Merchant Marine.

Coterie Hears History Of Communications

Coterie met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. M. R. Coutant, Ingersoll street. The paper was given by Mrs. Helen Terwilliger who chose Communications for her topic.

She spoke of the first means of communications, signs and signals such as signal fires and tapping on hollow logs. She described the beginnings of postal service, the post riders, stage coaches and later the development of the steam engine and the printing press, telegraph, teletype and the modern radar and airplane connections.

The next meeting will be January 7 at the home of Mrs. Byron Chatham. Mrs. Harry Smith will give the paper on Early American Music.

Card Parties

Hebrew School Auxiliary

Ladies' Auxiliary of the Kingston Hebrew School will hold its annual card party Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. in the vestry hall of Congregation Agudas Achim, West Union street. The public is invited. All kinds of games will be played. Refreshments will be served.

Speaker Discusses Spiritual Works

Activities of spiritual organizations which are working for world peace, world fellowship and humanity were discussed by Dr. Sara Robbins of the Robbinwood School of Psychology at a fellowship night in St. James Methodist Church last Thursday. The evening was sponsored by the Church board of education.

Dr. Robbins emphasized the good being done by the Quaker Religious School at Pendle near Philadelphia, Pa. Adult teachers are trained to go to Europe, South America and North Africa and other places to help suffering hungry and homeless peoples, believing that this is the way to follow the true teachings of Jesus.

She spoke of the Friends Service Committee which sponsors interracial relations meetings. Field workers go to colleges and solicit workers to form caravans. These caravans go into cities many of them to western cities to interest people in world peace and suffering humanity. Summer work camps are conducted where many thousands of young people of all races, color and creeds, gather to be taught good will, one God, one Father and one world, the speaker reported.

She mentioned the thousands of students attending our colleges from foreign countries. Other good will organizations spoken about were Women's International League for Peace, Inter-racial Prayer groups, World University Round Table, Save the Children Federation.

Dr. Robbins also spoke of hearing Frank Laubach tell of his work with illiterates around the world. He has three helpers who teach people who in turn teach others.

In speaking of children, Dr. Robbins said "Be what you want your children to be by example. Teach them the beauty of holiness through prayer. Then trust your children."

The lecture was followed by a ten prepared by Miss Lucy Berryman assisted by Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell.

Mrs. Schmidt Crowned Princess at Dance

Mrs. Edward Schmidt, Jr., was crowned princess of the night dance held by New York Gamma Chi, 2382, Beta Sigma Phi, Saturday night in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Mrs. Schmidt was crowned by Mrs. Edmund Holland, last year's princess.

Several unusual dance presentations featured the program in which various contestants participated.

Music for dancing was furnished by a local orchestra.

The next regular meeting of the local sorority will be held Tuesday, Dec. 13, at 7:45 p. m., at the Y. W. C. A.

His program will include three of his own works, Variations on an Original Theme, Sonata, and Suite from the ballet "Tom Sawyer." Also he will play Andantino (from K. 271), Mozart-Busoni; Organ Toccata, Bach-Busoni; Sonata Op. 31, No. 2, Beethoven; Five Songs without Words, Mendelssohn.

Chinese Auction Will Be Feature Of St. Nicholas Party

A Chinese auction sale will be one of the big features of the St. Nicholas Eve Party at the First Dutch Reformed Church Tuesday night starting at about 7:45 p. m. A similar sale was conducted by the church school a few weeks ago and proved to be most popular with those attending. The sale and party tomorrow night is being held under the auspices of the Choir Mothers Chapter and the church school staff. Many suitable gifts for Christmas and novel items will be offered for sale.

No admission will be charged. Refreshments will be served free. Christmas songs will be sung by the quartet of church school teachers and a community carol sing will be conducted.

Proceeding the sale St. Nicholas will greet the children as is customary in Holland and many kinds of Europe on the eve of his birthday. He will be riding a white horse and plans to proceed down Roosevelt avenue, Fuxhall avenue, O'Neil street, to Broadway and up to the church where he will distribute candy to the children present. Arrangements for St. Nicholas have been made by Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool.

Colonial Officials in Baltimore Seeking Tieup With Cincinnati

O.B. Future Hinges on Result Of Discussions

Jones, Garraghan, Gall in Colonial Party

The behind-the-scenes discussions at the annual Minor League convention which opened this morning in Baltimore, Md., can be of major significance to the future of organized baseball in Kingston.

Three men — Manager Emil Gall, Addison Jones and Ray Garraghan—are in Baltimore trying to convince Cincinnati Red officials of the value of a working agreement with the Kingston club of the Class B Colonial League.

If they succeed and return with some concrete proposal, the future of O.B. will look rosy. If they fail to impress the moguls of the Cincinnati Reds, the prospects are dubious for reorganization of the franchise.

Rourke Impressed—Hall of the battle appeared to win a couple of weeks ago when Frank Rourke, assistant to the chief of the Reds farm system, said he would be glad to recommend a working agreement with the Colonials.

Although Rourke emphasized that he was speaking unofficially, he would be the man to make the recommendation to the Cincinnati front office.

If the working agreement is made with Cincinnati, the Colonial Booster Club will receive the franchise, lock, stock and barrel from Ted Lawrence. Local debts owed by the franchise must be absorbed by the new owners.

Montreal's Morgan International's MVP

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Bob Morgan, Brooklyn's bright infielder, today officially was crowned the International Baseball League batting champion for 1949.

The 24-year-old Montreal shortstop, who is figured to make the shift to third base for the parent Red Sox next spring, finished the season with a .337 mark. Voted the circuit's most valuable player, Morgan, a compact five-foot, ten-inch, 170-pounder, carved out 191 hits in 567 at bats. He totaled 38 doubles, one triple, 79 home runs, scored 109 runs and batted in 112.

Gorgeous Hunk of Man

This is Gene "Mr. America" Stanlee, the body beautiful of wrestling, who makes the females swoon in wrestling arenas and via television all over the country.

Stanlee, who enters the ring in an ensemble that is a cross between a Buck Rogers outfit and Gabriel's raiments, tangles with Fary Rinaldo, the new Italian wizard, tomorrow night, Dec. 6, at the municipal auditorium.

Supporting the Stanlee-Rinaldo headliner are three 30-minute bouts featuring among others, Joe Kumeroff, the Mad Russian from Muske; Lew Bernard, of Montreal; Monsieur Paris, the French strongman; Mike Kolanick, Greek star; Deacon Kimball and the popular Steve Kurns.

First bout is scheduled at 8:30 p. m.

Leahy's Legions Set All-Time Mark; Master Predicts Five Losses in '50

Dallas, Dec. 5 (AP)—Notre Dame's gridiron champions are on the way home boasting the greatest four-year record in Fighting Irish history—but take it from Coach Frank Leahy, they accomplished it in the nick of time.

Next year, lamented that rugged individualism among pessimists, his team can't hope to be half as strong as the 1949 outfit which he called the greatest team I ever coached.

Lucky that they were able to finish four seasons without defeat while winning 36 games and tying two, the Irish still are talking about the thunderous game they had here Saturday when it required every ounce of drive and fight to turn back Southern Methodist 27-20.

From this year's team—voted No. 1 in the nation—Leahy loses nine and one-half starters. And from the remainder of his first string squad 10 more depart.

That one-half starter comes about in this manner: Bob Leahy and Fred Wallner divided time at one guard position. Leahy is through but Wallner has another year.

All-Americans Go

Notre Dame is swept clean of All-Americans. End Leon Hart, tackle Jim Martin, and fullback Emil (six-yard) Sittko, all are due to graduate.

Others lost from the starting team are end Bill Wighiklin, tackle Ralph McGehee, guard Frank Johnson, center Walt Grotzhaus and backs Frank Spaniel and Larry Coutre.

Bob Williams, brilliant quarterback who outpassed the south-west's pass-happy boys in the Southern Methodist game, will come back to keep Wallner company.

Twelve players with varsity experience return. But Leahy says he doesn't expect much help from this season's freshmen. He and Ed Krause, Notre Dame athletic director, say "there are no outstanding prospects" among this season's yearlings.

"We will lose five games next year," Leahy laments.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Bagatelles:

Len Sickler's retirement from the Kingston basketball scene is a heavy blow to the cage sport in this area. Len dropped substantial cash, collected more gray hair and suffered frustration in his efforts to re-establish semi-professional basketball in the city. The O-S League, a better skelter organization that could use a competent publicity man, never did inspire local interest. Neither did independent promotions. Except for high school games, basketball is dead in Kingston. Baseball is at the count of nine.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

In view of the recent strike, every San Francisco 49ers huddle will be suspected of being collective bargaining. Mrs. Bert C. Winne of Mt. Tremper is justifiably proud of her deer-slayer family. Her husband, Bert, Sr., proprietor of a garage in Mt. Tremper, bagged a deer on the last day of the season; Bert, Jr., shot a spiked horn on the first day. Roger Winne, a student at K.H.S., got a spike horn on the second day. The deer were shot down in three different sections of the mountains. Can any other family make that statement? While on the subject of deer, brass medals are hereby awarded Bill Edmunda and Sgt. James Culum for qualifying as deer slayers the first time out in their life. Meanwhile, a white shirt and tie didn't help Ed Davey in a recent pleasant safari at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club. And his bald headed partner was equally futile in waterproof shoes.

The Two Platoon System:

Says Dave Cameron: It's more than ever apparent that platoon football has reduced players to the point of useless slaves in a rowing shell. No one knows 'em except their mothers and the coach. This with the exception of the glum-boy T quarterback or "strike" who dictates the pulse beats. Platoon football may be a better game for the coach who is loaded with material but as a player's, much less a spectator's, game it's reduced to tasteless hash.

Earl Blaik has developed the two-platoon system to a deadly gridiron science at West Point. This could happen 10 years from now at the Officers Club:

"I'm Major Galloway, sir," says one.

"I'm Major Irons," replies the other.

"What was your class?"

"Tifty."

"Played a bit of football didn't you?"

"Yes, I was the right guard on the unbeaten '49 team that gave Navy its worst drubbing in the history of the 50-game series," says Major Irons.

"Which right guard?" asks Major Galloway.

"The offensive right guard," says Major Irons.

"Well, well, well," says Major Galloway. "I was the defensive right guard on that team. Fancy meeting you after all these years, but I knew we'd get together some day."

Jake Chelsky's Corner:

"Boots" Leskie is showing the sharpies that he throws a good working ball. Joe Dulin from running in the City Minor with a nice 181 average. Jim Daniels did a wonderful punting of 149 Van Winkle to coincide with the advent of the state women's tournament. Make your plans for the coming I.B.M. Polo Sweepstakes in Poughkeepsie. "Red" Garsino missed the coveted "400" club by blowing the 7-pin in the 30th frame. It was his only miss in the series, praise be. Claude Midlough is wondering how many people listen to Hank Kemmerer on Saturday nights. Our humble advice, Mr. Midlough, is for Hank to dig up some live material and he will definitely have a larger listening audience. The Gold Dust Twins—Jim Pruden and Ken Hadel—have designs on repeating in the Class B city tournament doubles.

It is always good to have the sponsor bowling on the team. Bill Winslow and his Progress Clothes outfit are leading the Silver Palace. Biggest mystery of the season: What happened to Town Cafe in the Bowldrome Major. We believe they are still the best money team in the city.

New Paltz Central High School remained unbeaten for the second straight year to capture the NOSU League's 8-man football crown. They even rounded up 11 men to whip Oakwood Prep. Millbrook defeated New Paltz in non-conference play. The seasonal scores were: New Paltz 14, Pine Bush 12; New Paltz 19, Marlborough 14; New Paltz 21, Walkkill 14; New Paltz 6, Oakwood 0 (11-man); New Paltz 45, Kerhonkson 6; New Paltz 6, Millbrook 40.

Preludes to Major Baseball Trades Under Consideration at Baltimore

Minors' Meeting Starts Today

Baltimore, Dec. 5 (AP)—Not a single big league trade may be announced at this 48th annual minor league baseball convention that opens here today but that does not mean that none will be consummated.

It is almost a certainty that at least two, perhaps three, player deals of "sizeable proportions" will be ready to be announced at the major league sessions in New York next week.

One concerns the world champion New York Yankees and the American League cellar-ridden Washington Senators. The Yankees, since the close of the 1949 season, have been trying to wrangle pitcher Ray Scarborough and first baseman Eddie Robinson away from the Nats.

They might as well stop wasting time on Scarborough. He cannot be had. But Robinson is another matter. It would not be at all surprising if the big slugger wore a Yankee uniform next season.

Coming Back

JOE AUSANIO

Joe Ausanio, Kingston's middleweight amateur boxing pride, continues his comeback in one of the preliminary bouts at the municipal auditorium on Thursday, Dec. 8. Ausanio thrilled local boxing fans with a thrilling recovery and kayo in his last start. His opponent has not been named.

Three tonight's five rounds are listed as follows:

Jacinto Harris, U.S.S. Rochester, vs. Jim Hardy, of Canaan.

Allie Haygood, Rochester, vs. Libby Manzullo, Jeffersonville.

Billy Hunter, Rochester, vs. Harry Smith, Canaan.

The remainder of the card will be announced later.

Williams-Dawson Bout in Philly

Philadelphia, Dec. 5 (AP)—Ike Williams, with everything to lose and very little to gain, defends his lightweight boxing championship tonight in a 15-rounder with Chicago's Freddy Dawson.

Williams is risking his crown against a guy he already has knocked twice in non-title engagements and for a share of the cheapest priced title fight in recent years. Top price for the Phil Glassman sponsored bout is $6.50. Some 10,000 fans are expected at Convention Hall for the 10 p. m. (E.S.T.) bell.

In previous matches between the two contestants, Williams knocked out Dawson in four and won a disputed 10-round decision. Dawson earned a draw in an earlier 10-rounder. Williams is a 2 to 1 favorite for tonight's battle.

Holstein and Ghear Over 30 Mark

Scoring at will against a loose Fuller defense, the Chez Emile powerhouse set a new season's record—in crushing the hapless Shrimshakers, 121 to 57, in the Y Basketball League Saturday night on the Y court.

Lafayette "Champ" Holstein and Big Bob Ghear, a pair of ex-K.H.S. stalwarts, accounted for 62 points, Ken Lowe tossed in 24, while George Glesner and Clark Mains each tallied 13.

Jack Jordan salvaged individual scoring honors for Fullers with a 33-point blast.

Overwhelming margins in the first and third quarters turned the game into a rout. Chezies were in front 26-0 at the quarter. They outscored their opponents only 25-20 in the second period and then resumed their latched work with a 32-4 bulge in the third period. That was it.

In sharp contrast was Potter Brothers' spectacular 70-62 conquest of a fighting Sixth Ward team. Potters clung to a 63-62 lead at the two-minute mark, after which Ward had nearly wiped out a 39-26 deficit.

Team Pools Out

Excessive fouling cost the Sixth Ward its chances. Cliff Schoonmaker and Wallace Carville each converted a pair of free throws for Potters, while Percy Greene delivered the coup de grace with a set shot from sidcourt.

Gene Fitzgerald, the Sixth Ward sharpshooter, continued his heavy scoring with a 23-point barrage compiled in only three quarters of play. He rested a bad ankle in the second period. Charlie Marble tossed in 16 points for the losers.

All nine Potter players scored at least one point. Vince Park was high with 12 markers. Cliff Schoonmaker had 11, while Carville and Engle each came up with 10.

Change Schedule

A revised schedule will go into effect this week because of the withdrawal of the Sickler Delivery franchise. Lou Schuler announced today.

Thursday games will be eliminated in the future, with doubleheaders scheduled for Tuesday and Saturday nights.

According to league rules, the Sickler players can be signed by any league team between now and January 1.

This week's schedule:

Tuesday, Dec. 6

7:30 p. m.—Potters vs. Village Rest.

8:30 p. m.—Sixth Ward vs. Chez Emile.

Wednesday, Dec. 7

7:30 p. m.—Fullers vs. Harry's Angels.

O'Donnell Leads Bowling Classic

Detroit Star Holds Edge Over Munn

Chicago, Dec. 5 (AP)—Charles (Chuck) O'Donnell of Detroit led a field of 168 sharpshooters as the first 12 of a 24 game preliminary round ended in the National All-Star Individual Bowling Tournament last night.

The 38-year-old sporting goods store clerk, moved ahead with 2,509. William (Whitey) Munn, New York city, took second place with 2,470 and Joe Surofka took over third position with 2,451.

The third six game block was scheduled for today and the final six tomorrow.

The 46 high scorers will move into the 12 game semifinals Wednesday.

The field of 48 women was reduced to 24 semi-finalists following completion of 12 game matches. The survivors were to roll 12 games today, eliminating another 12. The finals then will shoot round robin matches tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday, when the first annual national all-star women's title will be decided.

The men's meet will continue until next Sunday night.

Among the leaders after 12 games:

Chuck O'Donnell, Detroit 2509; William Munn, New York 2470; Joe Surofka, Gary, Ind., 2451; Fred Bujack, Detroit 2450; Tony Sparando, Woodside, N. Y., 2448.

Phil Meisenholder, Terre Haute, Ind., 2447; Ed Easter, Detroit 2444; William Lillard, Dallas 2440; Charles Johnson, Jr., Bayonne, N. J., 2426.

Joe Kristoff, Chicago 2423; Buddy Bomer, Chicago 2421.

Soviet Factories Hold Competition

Moscow, Dec. 5 (AP)—All Moscow papers today reported factories throughout Russia are holding competitions to increase production in honor of Prime Minister Stalin's 70th birthday, Dec. 21.

Special articles listed resolutions by workers' groups in various industries promising to increase output before the birthday celebration.

The papers also carried reports from the People's (Communist) Democracies of preparations for celebrations there to honor the Soviet leader's anniversary.

Loading papers also carried portraits of Stalin in honor of the Soviet Constitution Day, being celebrated throughout Russia today. The papers described at length the importance of the document, which they called the Stalin Constitution.

Counts Prostitutes

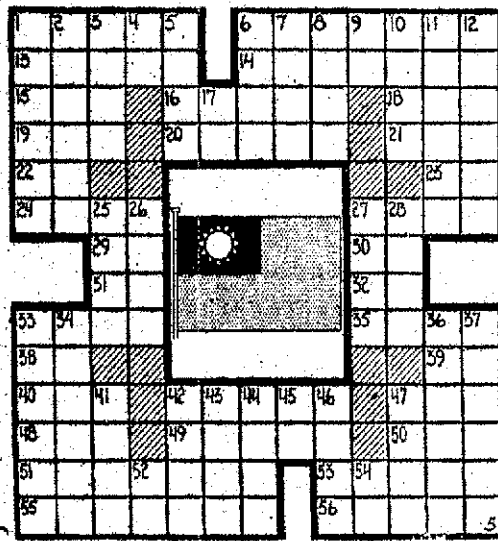

Singapore (AP)—There are 3,500 prostitutes in this city of about a million persons. This is an official police estimate. Police Commissioner R. E. Foulger, in his annual report, listed: Street-walkers, 180; about 180 brothels containing 920; miscellaneous ladies who use their own rooms and can be called to places of assignment, 2,400. Foulger says brothels are raided constantly throughout the year and 103 juveniles have been detained and handed over to the Social Welfare Department. Some are new arrivals from China.

Cleveland and San Francisco Win A.A.C. Semi-finals; Meet for Title

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Cleveland and San Francisco meet next Sunday for the All-American Football Conference championship while the National League's regular season ends with the Chicago Bears trying to overtake the Los Angeles Rams for western division honors.

In yesterday's A.A.C. semifinal playoffs, Cleveland's Browns eliminated the Buffalo Bills, 31-21, with 17,270 fans on hand at Cleveland. At San Francisco, the 49ers outplayed the New York Yankees, 17-7, before 41,393 spectators.

In Sunday's final at Cleveland, the Browns will seek to keep the title they've held since the conference's inception in 1946.

The Rams blew their chance yesterday to wrap up the western division crown in the N.F.L., losing a 31-27 decision to the Chicago Cardinals at home to the chagrin of more than 74,000 rooters. Their setback, coupled with a 30-21 victory for the second-place Bears over the Pittsburgh Steelers at Chicago, kept the western race alive.

The Rams, who have won seven games, lost two and tied two, still figure to wind up as the team that will meet the Philadelphia Eagles, eastern division winners, in the league playoff for the title Dec. 18.

Their next Sunday opponents will be the Washington Redskins, no hall of fire, while the Bears, who have an 8-3-6 record, must tackle the tough Cardinals. Only a Rams defeat and a Bears triumph can put the Chicagoans on top.

$500,000 Fire Puts 350 Persons Out of Job

Glenn Riddle, Pa., Dec. 5 (AP)—A $500,000 fire that swept the Sunroc Refrigeration Co. plant here left 350 men and women idle for an indefinite period of time.

Less than an hour after the blaze was discovered yesterday the wooden interior of the 73-year-old building was in ruins. Heavy timbers from the roof crashed through the lower floors. Only the stone walls remained standing, but bulged dangerously.

The building was purchased by the Sunroc Co. in 1942 from Samuel D. Riddle, famous owner and breeder of thoroughbred race horses.

Orville C. Morrison, president of the company, estimated the loss. He told firemen there was no indication how the blaze started.

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends ...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news: The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of long-continued goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for anyone.

Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are eight other makes of cars which actually have models priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac. Yes—thousands of the motorists you see on the highways paid more for their cars than the man who sits at the wheel of a Cadillac "61".

And, oh, the other facts in support of Cadillac's value!

There is long life, for example. Four Cadillacs, of the 1942 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently concluded by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car.

All four were then sold into private service.

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy. Few cars will run farther on a gallon of gasoline!

And, finally, there are the dependability records—records which prove beyond dispute, that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty!

Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in and place your order. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

Prelate Denounces Protestant Group

Boston, Dec. 5 (AP) — The Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, has denounced a Protestant group as a "refined form of the Ku Klux Klan."

The archbishop named Protestants and others united for separation of church and state yesterday in one of his most vigorous speeches.

"The activities of organizations like the Protestants and others united for separation of church and state are, of course, the modern form of the old A.P.A. and the refined form of the Ku Klux Klan," the prelate declared.

A.P.A. was the initials of the American Protective Association, a late 19th Century anti-Catholic organization which now is defunct.

Archbishop Cushing told the annual convention of the archdiocesan union of Holy Name Societies that it is most important to remember that these people do not speak for all, or even most of our non-Catholic neighbors.

In Atlanta, Dr. Louis B. Newton, chairman of the executive committee of the Protestant group, said "It's just another instance of resorting to abuse when you have no argument."

"The leaders of our organiza-

Principals Hold Annual Meeting

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP) — Approximately 1,200 principals of secondary and elementary schools met here today at the annual convention of their state associations.

Most of the day's program was set aside for panel discussions.

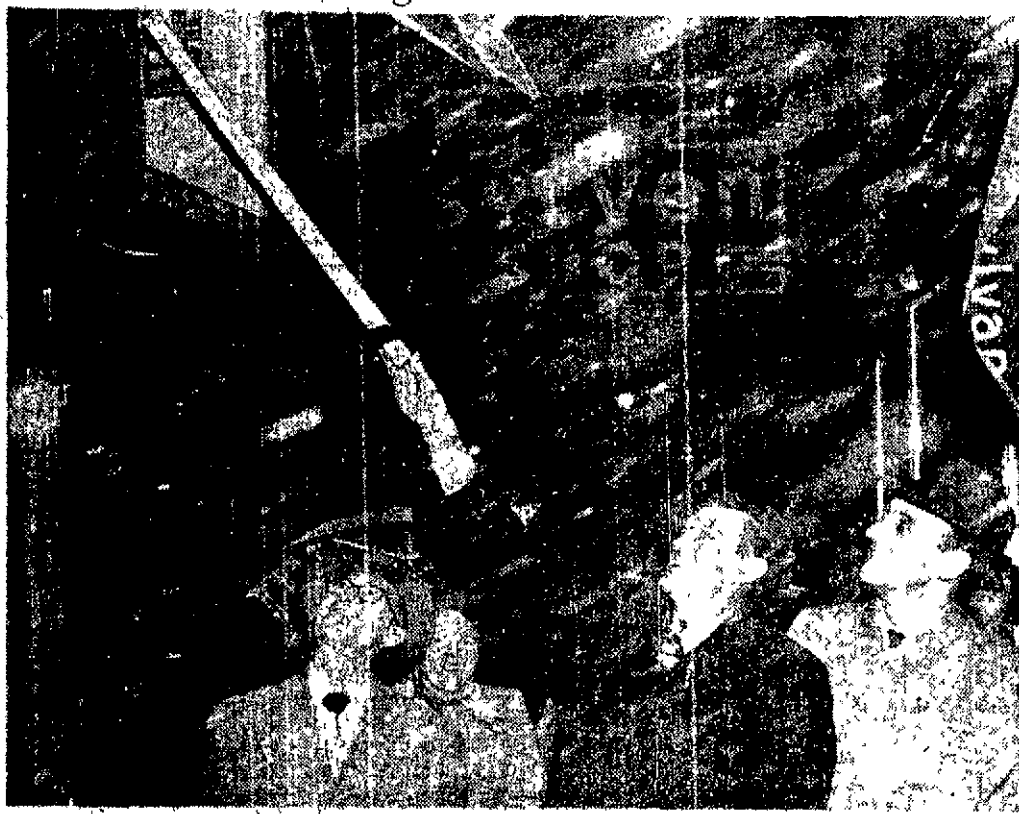

Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl, of Minnesota will be the principal speaker tonight before one of the organizations, the New York State Association of Secondary School Principals.

Dr. John L. Bracken, superintendent of schools at Clayton, Mo., and president of the American Association of School Administrators, will address the other group, the State Association of Elementary School Principals.

Yesterday a discussion on salaries of high school principals was led by William J. Hagerty of Cold Spring. He said a survey has disclosed that salaries range from a low of $3,000 to a high of $11,400.

His committee will recommend, he said, that the salary of high school principals be established at from about 1.5 to 2 times the salary of teachers in the high school system, and that superintendent's salaries be set at from 2.3 to 4.9 times the high school teachers' salary.

Yule Lights Usher in Season

The Christmas season was officially ushered in Friday night when Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk turned on the switch for the Christmas lights in the uptown business section of the city. Watching the mayor are Matthew Morgan, left, president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, and Jay Melton, right, chairman of the association's lighting committee. ## Britain Halts Work On Large Atom Pile

London, Dec. 5 (AP) — Britain stopped work on a large atom pile today because of the possibility of "developments in the near future."

Some sources speculated that the British might be counting on a greater exchange of atomic information with the United States.

Britain's atomic work might be altered if scientists here were given some of the Americans' know-how.

The Minister of Supply, in charge of atomic research, said work was being stopped on the largest of three piles under construction at Sellafield.

A spokesman said the halt was called "after a review of the program and in the light of possible developments in the near future."

The announcement came as Britain's atomic chief, Sir John Cockcroft, returned to London after a visit to United States and Canadian atomic experts.

"Work will be stepped up on the other two piles at Sellafield," the ministry spokesman said. "There will be no reduction of labor, only transfers to work of more urgent nature."

Russia Will Make Movie of Robeson

Moscow, Dec. 5 (AP) — The Soviet Union is going to make a motion picture about Paul Robeson.

An official announcement said the scenario is being written by Anatole Surkov, author of the currently popular play, "The Mad Haberdasher," which satirizes President Truman.

The announcement said the film will be titled "Paul Robeson," but gave no other details.

The American Negro singer is a very popular figure in the Soviet Union. A mountain peak recently was named after him in central Asia and mountain climbers placed his bust, in bronze, on top of it. His portrait hangs in the window of a photographic studio on Revolution Square here in Moscow. His records are frequently played.

Robeson visited Russia recently as a delegate to the Proponents of Peace Congress. His wife last month attended a women's congress here. Robeson, his wife and son lived in Moscow several years before the war.

Nationalist Gen. Pai Chung-hai was reported evacuating most of his 250,000 men army to Hainan Island, where Red guerrillas are numerous. Some of his forces reportedly were being left behind to set up bases in the mountains for guerrilla warfare.

Communist troops were reported only 30 miles from Nanning, the provisional capital of Pai's Kwangsi province. The city's fall was expected shortly.

In Chengtu, where Chiang is momentarily, Moosa reported most Chinese officials expected Sichuan, 225 miles to the southwest in the mountain fastness of Szechwan province, to be the next provisional capital of the Nationalists.

Movement to Tripoli, however, was not considered out of the question.

Washington (AP) — Profits from grandstand seats along last January's inauguration parade route, and from the inauguration ball are to be divided among the Community Chest, Florence Crittenton Home and the Home for Incurables. The largest part of the estimated $30,000 to $40,000 will go to the Chest, but exact shares have not yet been decided.

Reading, Eng. (AP) — Lampshades are playing havoc with British history. Lt. Col. G. E. C. Mahan, registrar of the national register of archives, told Reading University students he lamented the custom of using gold deeds, with interesting examples of old writing and historic signatures and seals, to make lampshades. Every one of them "tears a rent, however small, in the history of our country," he claimed.

'Trap Bids' Often Bad for Partner

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

While I receive a great deal of fan mail from my readers throughout the country, I am sorry to say that many of the hands sent to me I cannot use.

However, this week I have gathered together six hands from my readers. Some of them have fine plays, while others are just unusual freakish hands.

I cannot give you the name of the reader who sent in today's hand, because she and her partner got into a terrific argument over it. After looking over the bidding which they submitted, I do not think either one has bid it correctly, but there is a good lesson in it in bidding for you.

One of the pitfalls in bidding for the beginner is termed "trap bidding." The point I want to impress upon your mind today is this: Before you make a bid, ask yourself if it will trap your partner in any way.

In today's hand South opened the bidding with one spade. North, who had two bid opposite an opening bid, knew there was a game in the hand. But why make a bid as strong as three spades? That is a jump bid, which not only demands a game, but suggests a slam. North should have made a constructive bid of two diamonds, which his partner could not pass.

After North's bid of three spades, South bid four spades, signing the hand off. She had heard her partner's bid, demanding a game and inviting a slam, but her response said, "Partner, I have no additional values."

A typical trap bid of five spades was made by North. South should have passed this; even that cannot be held. But there are few players who, with South's holding, would not go to six spades.

If you want to overbid occasionally, as North did with the three spade bid, that is all right, but then do not later on in the bidding find another bid. If you do, you can expect to trap your partner into a bad contract every time.

Christmas Dinner in April

New York (AP) — Turkeys grow fast. Slightly larger than a baby chick at hatching, they quickly attain a size that dwarfs the chicken. Turkeys hatched in April are oven size by Thanksgiving or Christmas. Some of them, the males, particularly attain a weight of 25 pounds or so in that time.

B-36 Bombers...

the experimental aircraft carrier at Elkhart Air Base, Ind., and cold weather conditions in Alaska, where B-36s have been sent for the last two winters.

As was pointed out, a B-36 bomber has a complex system of hydraulic fluid for controls. In winter, this fluid becomes very thick, and the controls become stiff.

The solution of the problem has been to use a special oil which does not become stiff in cold weather.

The problem is to condition a plane's engine during cold weather. A multitude of other equipment to operate and not break when the temperature is at 30, 40 or 50 below zero.

Special fuel oils and lubricating equipment is needed, special hydraulic fluid for controls, special oil for the engine, and special oil for the landing gear and brakes.

Ordinary rubber in tires and hose line connections chews as fast as glass under extremely low temperatures. Metal also becomes less sudden stress. Special gaskets are needed to prevent leakage of fuel and lubrication systems.

In the winter, the engine and fuel power is demanded from the engine.

New York Faces...

used an additional 3,000,000 gallons. The Elizabethtown Water Co. said it would pipe in that amount to the city starting today.

Sermons and prayers for rain were heard in New Brunswick churches yesterday.

New Jersey's governor, Alfred E. Driscoll, ordered the saving of 10,000,000 gallons of water from Wanago reservoir by closing the reservoir overflow. He appealed for economies in consumption.

Jersey City, N. J., faced a cut in water pressure unless its reservoir areas got a substantial rain by tomorrow. Water rationing was threatened in a number of heavily populated North Jersey communities.

Among other areas with serious water shortages were the San Joaquin Valley of Contra California, the Salt River Valley around Phoenix, Ariz., and the High Plains region of Texas.

The New York State Conservation Council on Saturday opposed construction of dams for New York City on gameland sections of Sullivan and Delaware counties, despite the city's shortage.

With the reservoirs of water companies less than one-third full, the neighboring communities of Port Chester, N. Y., and Greenwich, Conn., were threatened with shortages.

New York city officials were cracking down on water wasters. They sent out 790 inspectors from various departments to give warnings to minor offenders, and issue court summonses to more serious violators.

Two Boys Are Held In Stabbing of Third

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Two Negro boys were held by police last night in connection with the stabbing yesterday of a third in an assembly room of St. Philip's Episcopal Church, 215 West 133rd street.
All are members of the choir. The victim, whose condition was reported serious at Harlem Hospital, is Robert Coveney, 11, of 1250 Franklin avenue, the Bronx. Booked on a charge of felonious assault was Carl Sannicks, 16, of 1422 Washington avenue, The Bronx, who, according to police, slashed Robert's abdomen with a switch-blade knife.
Held on a charge of juvenile delinquency was a 13-year-old who detectives said purchased the knife, gave it to Sannicks, took it back after the stabbing, and later threw it away.
As the choir was about to begin practice at 1 p. m., the Coveney boy announced he was going home. Police said that a moment later, in the presence of a group of choristers, he screamed: "I've been stabbed—Carl did it!"

Volcano Danger Passes

Catania, Sicily, Dec. 5 (AP)—Shepherds and farmhands returned to pastures and fields on the slopes of Mt. Etna today as danger from the ancient volcano's three-day eruption seemed to have passed. Lava streams which started pouring from newly opened craters on the 10,758-foot peak Friday slowed to a snail's pace. The towns of Randazzo, Bronte and Maletto were threatened for a time by the lava streams but scientists said the eruption seemed about over.

Sarawak Governor Stabbed by Youths

Singapore, Dec. 5 (AP)—A three-year fight to give story book Sarawak back to its white rajahs exploded over the week-end in an attempted assassination of the crown colony's British governor. He was reported today still "seriously ill" from a knife wound in the abdomen.
Two young Malays attacked Governor Duncan Stewart as he arrived Saturday at Sibn, interior city of the colony in North Borneo which "White Rajah" Vyner Brooke ceded to the British crown in 1946.

Since the cession, Malay members of the native population have petitioned and propagandized for a return of the British Brooke family who ruled them for a century. The attack on Stewart was the first violence growing out of the anti-cession movement.
The 45-year-old governor, flown to Singapore yesterday and given two blood transfusions enroute, "passed a fair night," a hospital bulletin today said.

Souvenir Pipes Taboo
Bangkok, (AP)—An American visitor who purchased two silver-mounted opium pipes as curios was fined 40 baht ($2) the other day and the pipes, costing 2,000 baht ($100), were confiscated. The tourist was charged—to his surprise—with possession of opium pipes without a license.
